French Sentence German General for War Theft

Officer Given One Year for Stealing From Chateau He Occupied During Conflict.

LILLE, France, Nov. 20.—Found guilty by a French court martial of confiscating and shipping to Germany valuable properties from the chateau he occupied as headquarters in Northern France during the war, Gen. von Nathusius, a German commanding officer, was sentenced this afternoon to a year's imprisonment and payment of the costs of the trial. The conviction was on a vote of four to three.

Gen. von Nathusius, who a year ago was tried by default and sentenced to six years in prison on the charge of having been in French territory recently and brought to trial in person. He was arrested at Thionville while visiting graves of relatives killed during the war.

The general was charged with having confiscated and removed valuable paintings and furniture from the chateau, shipping them to Germany.

The detailed accusation read to the German officer in court today charges him with stealing ladies' cloaks, furs and hats, several carpets, a dinner service and a baby carriage, to the total value of $880 francs (about $145). Gen. von Nathusius denied the charges.

When he first moved into the house he had the carpet taken out of the bedroom, he declared, "because it was full of fleas." He had the dinner service requisitioned in the regular way that requisitions were made, he declared. Anyway, it was not his service and he had never packed it among his baggage. He formally denied stealing anything.

In the courtroom, which holds little more than 50 people, many German reporters were present as also was Secretary Von Rintelen, of the German Embassy in Paris.

WILLS HER ESTATE WORTH $181,000 TO WOMAN FRIEND

Mrs. Jennie A. Holbrook Had Treated Companion for the Last Three Years as a Daughter.

Mrs. Jennie A. Holbrook, volunteer worker for improvement of the condition of employed women here, who died Sunday at the Delmonte Hotel, left her entire estate to Miss Billie Edith Stanley, her companion for the last three years, whom she treated as a daughter.

The will was reported in 1921 as worth $181,000.

The will was filed for probate yesterday and today an earlier will was offered but not accepted, in which, it is said, the bulk of the estate was left to Mrs. Holbrook's church, Centenary Methodist, and two women friends. The will making Miss Stanley sole heir mentions Mrs. Holbrook's only relative, a brother, Dr. James S. Foote of Omaha, Neb., but leaves him nothing.

Miss Stanley said the former will left Dr. Foote $1000, and she added, her attorney thinks Dr. Foote will institute a contest. Miss Stanley does not think so, however.

The will being probated, which was dated April 4 last and signed by Miss Stanley's attorney, James Parker, as a witness, declares it was the testator's will and that she, her brother, Dr. Foote, receive nothing. Miss Stanley was made executrix.

Other Will Offered.

The earlier will was offered by Francis E. Williams, an attorney, who today declined to comment on his action or discuss that document. Miss Stanley said it had made the following bequests: About one-half of the estate to Centenary church, which had been a trustee earlier in the light of the fact that she had purchased a half pint of whisky, was held as a material witness. They were not together at the time of the shooting, he said.

Mrs. Baskin, who is a widow, turned over to Sheriff C. S. Reeves a small-caliber pistol from which two shots had been fired.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Nov. 20.—Paul Patterson, 21 years old, who was shot and killed at Lebanon, Tenn., last night, was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe C. Patterson, Springfield lawyer. Mr. and Mrs. Patterson left Springfield last night upon being informed that their son had been shot. They were en route to Lebanon when the youth died.

Roscoe Patterson served one term as Republican Congressman from this (the Seventh) district.

SEVERE COLD SPELL IN ITALY
Mountains Covered With Snow;
Cattle Driven to Plains.

ROME, Nov. 20.—Italy is in the grip of a severe cold spell. Not only the mountains but the north, but even those surrounding Rome are covered with snow and the temperature here sank during last night to about 20 degrees Fahrenheit, which is unusual for this region.

The sheep and cattle already are being driven down from the Abruzzi Mountains to the plains for the winter season, and in several villages special watches have been organized as a defense against the wolves forced out of their mountain haunts by snow and hunger.

HAPPY WOMEN SELDOM

Vienna Doctor Declares Habit Gives Women Chance to Execute Graceful Movements.

VIENNA, Nov. 20.—Happy and satisfied women almost never smoke, in the opinion of Dr. R. Hofstaetter, gynecologist, who some time ago asserted that smoking altered women's faces, making them look more masculine than feminine.

"Women who smoke much have almost invariably contracted the habit at a time when they were especially unhappy," he says in his book, "The Smoking Woman."

Women regard smoking as something "smart," he continued. "Smoking affords them an opportunity to execute a surprisingly large number of playful and therefore graceful movements and positions. It is a significant fact that the smoking woman is much more concerned about the motions through which she goes as she smokes than is the man, for whom the accompanying movements, such as the character of his features, bear the character of automatic, unconscious movements."

Hughes Reverses Himself After Year and Half and Passport Is Ordered Issued to Veteran's Wife.

REASON 'SUFFICIENT,' ONLY EXPLANATION

Woman Was Educated in America but Father's Death Prevented Her From Becoming Citizen.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON.

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Anna Lerner's exile is ended; she is coming home.

From an alien country where an arbitrary order of the American State Department sentenced her to remain for the last year and a half, she is at last coming back to the land in which she was reared to her husband, her mother and her brothers, to the scenes and associations of her childhood.

When a Post-Dispatch correspondent inquired at the State Department a year ago for the reasons that underlay its refusal to let this 20-year-old bride of an American veteran re-enter the country he was told that the Department deemed the reason "sufficient" and that was all.

When the correspondent inquired yesterday for the reasons which underlay the department's decision to reverse its position and lift the decree of banishment he was told that the department deemed them "sufficient," and that was all. The department, it was explained, feels under no obligation to explain its acts.

Raised in Philadelphia.

Anna Kipness was born in Russia and was brought to this country by her parents when she was 6 years old. She grew up in Philadelphia, attending the public schools. Her father died before he completed his naturalization. Her brothers became citizens. In 1922 she went to Russia to join the industrial colony at Kuzbas, Siberia, where an experiment in industrial and social democracy was being carried out largely by persons from America.

There she met and married Noah Lerner, an honorably discharged veteran of the World War who, like her, had gone there to participate in the experiment.

In the summer of 1923 they concluded to return home. A passport was issued to Lerner by the American Consul at Riga, but he and his wife were told that Mrs. Lerner could not return then, because the immigration quota was full.

They learned for the first time that because she was a minor when she left this country, and because her father had died before his naturalization was complete, and because Congress had passed a law which deprived alien wives of American citizens of the status enjoyed by their husbands—because of these technicalities—the State Department regarded Mrs. Lerner as an alien precisely as if she had never been in this country.

Refused to Admit Her.

But the worst was yet to come. While they were yet lamenting the few months of separation that must intervene before a new quota became available, they were informed that the State Department, for reasons which it deemed "sufficient" had decided not to admit her at all.

Government Acts Against Baltimore Daily Post to Get Court Ruling on Publicity Clause.

FIRST ACTION TO SETTLE DISPUTE

Five Counts in Federal Grand Jury's Bill, One for Each of Five Names Published.

By the Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 20.—The Baltimore Post Co., publishers of the Baltimore Daily Post, today was indicted by the United States grand jury in an action brought by the Government to test the legality of publication of income tax returns by newspapers.

The indictment, which consists of five counts, charges the company with the "unlawful publication" on last Oct. 24, of the names and income tax returns of five men whose names and amounts of their payments are set forth in the indictments.

The indictment followed the appearance before the grand jury today of Harold Allen and Sewell Key, special assistants to Attorney General Stone. Galen L. Tait, Internal Revenue Collector for this district, was named as the prosecuting witness. So far as known, he was the only witness.

The indictment, the first test case to be instituted by the Department of Justice to obtain judicial construction of conflicting provisions in the income tax law, charges that the Post printed the returns on income taxes in violation of section 3167 of the revised statutes, despite a warning given by the Treasury Department when public inspection was ordered.

Stone to Take Action in Other Cities, Also.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—In the grand jury proceeding against the Baltimore Daily Post, Attorney General Stone sought to present various phases of the question of publishing income tax returns so that a court ruling may be obtained under the conditions existing in Baltimore.

He has instructed United States Attorneys in six or seven other instances to make presentments to grand juries in as many cities, asking for indictments of newspapers there to obtain court expressions in a variety of communities.

The Attorney General said today he would press for early court action in the Baltimore case and would pursue the same policy with respect to the others. He desires to get the question to the Supreme Court as soon as possible.

Since the indictment in Baltimore is against the Baltimore Post Co., it was indicated that the Department of Justice desired to bring that case on the alleged unavailability of a corporation instead of an individual. In some of the other cases, indictments may be brought against individuals in order to develop another phase of the apparent conflict in tax law which says, in one instance, that the income tax returns shall be open to public inspection and, in another paragraph, re-enacts section 3167 of the revised statutes, making it an offense to print information concerning the returns.

The Treasury Secretary Mellon said at that time, could take no further steps in the matter. It had attempted to comply with the law, which said specifically that the returns must be opened at the earliest date after the tax year was complete.

Pat Harrison Now for Repeal of Publicity Provision.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Repeal or modification of the publicity feature of the income tax law was urged today in a statement by Senator Harrison, Democrat, of Mississippi, a member of the Senate Finance Committee, who supported the measure when it passed the Senate.

KANSAS CITY WAS "ZONED FOR GRAFT BY DRY AGENTS"

L. F. De Hart Testifies Of- ficers Apportioned Dis- tricts for Extortion From Bootleggers.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 20.—Kansas City was zoned by Federal prohibition agents to promote efficiency in extorting money from bootleggers, L. F. De Hart, prohibition Director of Missouri, testified in the trial of six former Federal prohibition agents charged with conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws.

De Hart testified that Elton Apple, one of the former agents, testified that the prohibition agents had zoned the city so that one agent would not encroach upon another's territory. De Hart appeared as a witness yesterday.

Harvey Leopold, who said he was a "reformed bootlegger," testified that he had been arrested many times for selling liquor, but that he had been released because he had beaten them until three years ago, when he said he served his first jail sentence.

Leopold identified Arthur Curran and Manning Wilcox, defendants in the case, as men whom he had paid money. He testified that when his place of business was raided he was told to see Curran.

He gave Curran $50, the witness said, and agreed to pay $20 weekly. Curran collected the weekly tribute for a while, Leopold testified, and later Wilcox made the collections.

Stripped Seized Autos.

Later, Leopold said, members of the police department began collecting payment, for protection which went to $55.

"They got so thick I couldn't pay them any more," the witness said.

H. L. Hurlbut, a policeman, testifying today, admitted he had received $20 from Federal prohibition agents after he accompanied them on a liquor raid.

Hurlbut wore his uniform on the witness stand.

He testified he had received the money from Beeno Greenbaum, a former prohibition agent, who has jumped bond.

Hurlbut was a salesman, employed in a garage operated by Arthur Curran, testified that automobiles confiscated by prohibition officers and stored in the garage were stripped of accessories and tires which were replaced with inferior articles.

Hurlbut testified that he became an informer for the department, watched the agents and reported evidence of extortions. "Fixed" the cars to two men in Sugar Creek, but

GEORGE J. GOULD'S HANDLING OF BIG ESTATE DEFENDED

Attorney in Accounting Suit Asserts He Gave 26 Faithful Years to $82,000,000 Property.

ONLY ONE ACT NOT GIVEN APPROVAL

Keeping $900,000 Western Union Sale Commission Secret Six Years Pointed Out as an Error.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—With one exception every act of George J. Gould in administering over 26 years the $82,000,000 estate left by his father, Jay Gould, can be justified on moral and legal grounds, but for the one act there can be no defense, William Wallace Jr., attorney for the George J. Gould estate, declared today in opening his defense in the accounting suit before Referee James A. O'Gorman.

The total transactions handled by George J. Gould in those 26 years, Wallace pointed out, were $738,000,000.

Anna Gould, now the Duchess de Talleyrand, and Frank, who were minors when their father died and who, as the principal objectors to the accounting, have been the source of the most severe charges against their brother, George, have no basis on which to raise the questions that have been brought before the referee, Wallace declared.

Wallace told the court the only vital questions at issue were those of "allocation between principal and interest," questions which gave him little concern because he felt sure he said, that whatever errors may have been made could be adjusted easily.

Wallace made his opening address before 25 attorneys, counsel for the litigants, in the accounting. He depicted George J. Gould as a faithful son, carrying out the injunctions in his father's will to maintain and develop the property he left as "the Gould railroads," untiringly for 26 years, and bearing the brunt of a burden that should have been shared equally by the other trustees.

The attorney sought to show that had George J. Gould managed the property in other manner the estate might be in much worse condition than it is now represented to be.

Secret Commission. Wallace also said "I am constrained to say, Your Honor, and to say in moderation that I regret there is one phase in this situation, one charge, for which I cannot undertake to make justification. That is the charge involving the Western Union secret commission."

This charge, which was brought out many weeks ago, was that, in 1909, George J. Gould sold 210,028 shares of the Western Union Telegraph Co. stock, most of it belonging to the estate, to the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. and collected a "secret commission" of $300,000.

It has been shown that for six or seven years George J. Gould withheld from his brothers and sisters knowledge of the fact that he collected a commission. When he did disclose it he repaid $220,000 to the estate and gave $125,000 to his attorney, then Thomas L. Chadbourne for the same purpose. "I frankly feel," Wallace informed the court, "that he should have told his brothers and his sister, Helen, as soon after the transaction as possible, that this matter should have been ironed out at that time; that his silence concerning his secret commission cannot be justified."

"If it were not for his silence I might even now attempt to justify his moral right, and in a strict interpretation of the law, perhaps his legal right, to that commission. But on account of the silence which he kept I shall not do it."

"I feel that George Gould for the 26 years he gave to the administration of this estate such experience and intelligence as he had, and deserved only commendation. Concerning his treatment of the general public, which was a stranger to him, I shall have nothing to say."

"To the estate and to his brothers and sisters, however, I find nothing except in the one transaction which will bear criticism."

CITY OFFICIALS PROMISE TO EXPEDITE NEW COURTHOUSE

Will Urge Passage of Ordinance Appropriating $150,000 for Architects' Fees in Planning Structure.

Co-operation of Mayor Kiel, Comptroller Nolte, the Board of Public Service and the Board of Aldermen was promised to the campaign to expedite construction of the new $4,000,000 courthouse facing the Municipal Plaza, at a meeting in the Mayor's office today.

The meeting, called informally by Circuit Judge Killgren with a view to initiating pre-construction legislation, was attended by Circuit Judges, members of the St. Louis Bar Association and all city officials who might aid in the campaign.

This afternoon a committee waited on the Citizens' Bond Issue Subcommittee, and asked them to approve an ordinance appropriating $150,000 for architects' fees in planning the courthouse. Passage of this ordinance would permit the employment of a committee of architects to draw preliminary plans for the entire plan.

Mayor Kiel, expressing his approval of prompt action, stated he believed the obtaining of the Supervisory Committee's approval to the employment of an architects' committee is the first important step to be taken.

President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service agreed and outlined a plan whereby he figured that the cost of plans could be cared for in the 1925 outlay, while the first construction work could be taken care of in the 1926 bond issue program.

Comptroller Nolte promised hearty co-operation and President Neun of the Board of Aldermen declared the board was practically of one mind in endorsing action. Circuit Judges and attorneys spoke briefly on the need of the new courthouse to relieve congestion and inconvenience at the old building.

WOUNDED BRITISH SIRDAR IS IN A GRAVE CONDITION

Head of the Army in Egypt,
Shot by Assassins, Had Reacted Favorably to Transfusion.

LONDON PRESS CALLS FOR PROMPT ACTION

Some Papers Demand Withdrawal of Concessions; Zagloul Blamed for 'Pandering to Extremists.'

By the Associated Press.
CAIRO, Nov. 29.—The condition of Major-General Sir Lee Stack, sirdar of the Egyptian army, who was wounded yesterday by assassins, was grave this evening. He lost ground during the afternoon.

Six or more gunmen, using both bombs and automatic pistols, were concerned in the attack, and the Sirdar was struck by three bullets, suffering wounds in the abdomen, one hand and one foot. After an operation for transfusion of blood last night, the surgeons expressed hope for his recovery.

The Egyptian Premier, Zagloul Pasha, in a statement to the newspapers, declared the Government would take every possible step to solve the mystery of the crime and capture the assassins.

"The outrage," he continued, "will cause a very bad impression with everyone everywhere. I deplore this crime. I do not know to what end the criminals are acting or to what class they belong, but I am convinced that its authors want to disturb the peace of the country. They shall not attain their ends."

The newspapers publish many messages, indicating universal repudiation of the outrage.

Wounded, but Drives on.
The Sirdar was in his car when bullets directed at the car, seemingly from every angle, also wounded, but not seriously, the Sirdar's aide, his chauffeur and a policeman. The chauffeur, an Australian, although wounded twice, remained at the wheel of the car and drove rapidly to the presidency.

The assassins, it is thought, used two automobiles in fleeing. A man who is alleged to have driven one of the cars was arrested later.

The assailants of the Sirdar first threw a bomb at his car and when it failed to explode they opened fire with their automatics. The car's body was pierced by several bullets, three of which were found inside. Both the chauffeur and the Sirdar's aid said they believed more than 20 shots had been fired. According to the chauffeur, there were at least eight men in the attacking party, all of them dressed as effendis. One wore a false beard.

Indignation in England Over Shooting of Sirdar.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—The attempt in Cairo upon the life of Gen. Sir Lee Stack, sirdar of the Egyptian army, has aroused great indignation here and most of the morning newspapers comment severely, demanding that the Government take prompt decision and action.

While Premier Zagloul Pasha and the Egyptian Government are acquitted of having desired, much less prompted, the outrage, it is contended that they were to a great extent morally responsible for their alleged fostering of extremism and hostility to the British.

The Times says the Egyptian Government must be taught that its practice of "pandering to the extremists for political advantage" can not be tolerated. The paper continues:

There is no case for a leisurely exchange of diplomatic notes; it is a case for immediate and energetic action. Such action was effective in the Sudan troubles, and the conservative Government will be expected to act at least as promptly and firmly as did Mr. MacDonald's government."

Some of the other papers demand that the British Government withdraw some or all of the concessions already made to Egypt. Even the Liberal organs, which comment less drastically, treat the incident as grave and call upon Zagloul Pasha imperatively to suppress the terrorism.

JUDGE LINDSEY WON BY 198 MAJORITY, FINAL COUNT SHOWS

Denver Jurist Will Return to Juvenile Bench Seat He Has Held 23 Years.

DENVER, Col., Nov. 29.—Judge Ben B. Lindsey, juvenile jurist, will retain the bench seat he has held for 23 years as the result of the November election.

This was determined last night when the count of mail votes was completed, giving Judge Lindsey a majority of 130 votes over Roy W. B. Graham, his Republican opponent. To this total will be added 68 votes, granted Judge Lindsey by the election commission on tally errors.

"I consider it the biggest victory of my life," Judge Lindsey said. "In the face of the Republican landslide and the opposition of the Ku Klux Klan, I have been returned to office."

HERRIN FACTIONS HALTED AT DRAW IN EAST ST. LOUIS

Deputy U. S. Marshals Prevent Fresh Outbreak of Klan Feud During Trial of Liquor Cases.

ARRESTS MADE AND WEAPONS SEIZED

Men Had Been Brought Together as Defendants and Witnesses in Williamson County Cases.

Another clash between Williamson County Klan and anti-Klan forces was averted by the prompt intervention of United States Deputy Marshals at noon yesterday outside the Federal Building on Missouri avenue between Seventh and Eighth streets, East St. Louis. The opening of the docket yesterday morning in Federal Judge English's court of Williamson County liquor cases, most of which are based on Klan raids and in which many Herrin and Martin residents have been summoned to East St. Louis as witnesses, stirred up old hatreds and led to the averted clash.

Following adjournment of court at noon a number of Herrin men left the Federal Building in a body. Among them were John Ford, Rufus Whitson, Sam Childress, Lex Martin and Albert Jones, the last three having testified in a case during the morning. Across the street another group of men gathered around two cars. In one of which Robert Johnson, R. A. Livingston, Bernard Shelton and Charles Brown were seated.

Revolvers Being Drawn. Words were passed between the two factions and revolvers were being drawn on both sides when Deputy Marshals R. O. Shepard, Guy Wallace and Frank Smith ran into the street with revolvers drawn. The four men in the car were placed under arrest and charged with carrying concealed weapons. They gave their addresses as the Wies Hotel, East St. Louis. Shelton is one of the Shelton brothers against whom charges of having killed Constable Caesar Cagle were dismissed on Aug. 28 last.

East St. Louis police and Deputy Marshals later arrested Fred Sherrard, Johnson City; James Carter, Ziegler; Lex Martin, Herrin; and Archie Jones, Herrin, who were armed, and Marian McCall, Herrin who was unarmed. They are being held.

Nick Trokaski of Weaver Hill stood trial in the morning session of the court on the charge of possessing intoxicating liquor and was found not guilty.

Disposition of Cases. Edward Benza of Herrin was also found not guilty on a charge of possession. Abe Carter, a negro of New Haven, was found guilty and fined $400 by Judge English on charges of possessing a still and intoxicating liquor.

Others who pleaded guilty and the amount of their fines are: Mary Pleva of Herrin, $100; Francis Jennings, West Frankfort, $300; Paul Burton, West Frankfort, who had previously received a fine of $500 and a sentence of 90 days in the county jail, $10; John Rose, Herrin, $375; Pearl Leonard, Herrin, $200; John Roe, Herrin, $100; and Joe Balkus of 1331 North Ninth street, East St. Louis, $400, and 90 days in jail on six counts.

Before dismissing court yesterday afternoon Federal Judge English in a brief address from the bench warned against the improper usurpation of authority and condemned the carrying of concealed weapons and unwarranted interruptions of the business of the court.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

When Back Hurts Flush Your Kidneys as You Clean Your Bowels

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, sometimes get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region begin drinking lots of water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is intended to flush clogged kidneys and help stimulate them to activity. It also helps neutralize the acids so they no longer irritate, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only trouble. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

TELLS OF BENEFITS FROM WATERWAY

Congressman Says River Development Offers Hope for Lower Freight Rates.

By the Associated Press.
EVANSVILLE, Ind., Nov. 20.—Water power companies are behind the effort to deprive the city of Chicago and the Illinois River of 10,000 cubic feet of water a second from Lake Michigan, Congressman William E. Hull of Peoria told the sixth annual convention of the Mississippi Valley Association here yesterday.

"We must fight with all our might, for we have confronting us the influence and money of Canadian and Niagara power companies working under the cloak of the lake carriers, who are making a claim that this water will lower the levels of the lake," said Hull. The diversion has been going on for 25 years and no bad results have occurred.

Congressman Hull then appealed to every one in the Middle West, Northwest and South to fight for the retention of this divergence of water into the Chicago and Illinois rivers. He also appealed to the East by saying: "The East should be more charitable and not try to monopolize all the natural resources of our nation or some day the Midwest and the West and South will combine and destroy the great advantage they seem to hold."

Congressman Hull told the history of the deep waterway project from the Great Lakes to the Gulf. He said the effort started as early as 1822 and various laws were passed making it possible. Congressman Hull told of the advantages of the Gulf to the Lakes waterways by showing that on a plane shipped by water from New York to San Francisco, via the Panama Canal the freight is $12.50, while the rail rate is $31.50. "The great West is not yet awake to the fact that their only hope for a reduction in freight rates lies in the improvement of this inland waterway, which is far more necessary to the people of the United States than is the Panama Canal," he said. "We did not hesitate to vote millions for that great enterprise which gave relief to the coast, so far as the United States is concerned."

Support of the Porter bill, providing for a 30-year bond issue for river and harbor improvement, passage by Congress of the rivers and harbors bill with the full amount of the estimates appropriated, and changes in the Federal budget system were urged by President James E. Smith in his address, prepared for delivery at the evening session.

He charged discrimination by the Director of the Federal Budget against the Mississippi Valley in cutting down estimates of army engineers for river and harbor improvement in 1935 and 1932. Less than $15,000,000 has been annually expended during the last five years upon Mississippi Valley waterways, he declared, while last year $150,000,000 was expended by the national and state government for public highway building.

The waterways plank of the Republican platform, approving of development of Great Lakes to Gulf and Atlantic routes and improvements in other systems, Smith said, was partly responsible for the majorities given to President Coolidge in the recent election.

NEW PLAN FOR MUSCLE SHOALS

Senators Who Favored Ford Bid Trying to Get System of Government Operation.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Senators who favored the Ford bid for Muscle Shoals are seeking the aid of Western Senators for a compromise Government plan of operation for the properties, to be submitted when Congress convenes in December.

Secretary Weeks is taking steps to ascertain the scope of his authority to contract for the temporary disposition of power generated at the plant, should Congress fail to make final disposition of the properties prior to completion of Wilson Dam next July.

Should Congress fail to dispose of the question and should the Secretary find himself without authority to lease the output of the plants, they would be idle.

Senator Norris of Nebraska has submitted a Government-operation plan and advocates of the Ford bid, convinced that Ford has withdrawn from the competition, are engaged with a plan that has many features of the Norris proposals, but considerably amended.

Secretary Weeks has asked Major General Hull, Judge advocate general of the Army, for an opinion as to his powers in handling the properties. If that opinion should hold that he has no authority to make temporary contracts for power which he has mind, he probably will ask Congress to confer the authority on him if it should appear that Muscle Shoals legislation is not to be completed during the short session.

While there may be some difficulty in finding companies willing to make short term leases for all the power developed, nearby power companies are prepared to take a large part of it.

Secretary Weeks conferred yesterday with Elton H. Hooker, of New York, who has been at work for some time of a proposal for the creation of a gigantic chemical and industrial plant at Muscle Shoals. It was said that Hooker hoped to have his proposal in shape for submission to Congress at the forthcoming session.

$2,125,000 for Methodist Missions.
By the Associated Press.
PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 20.—A budget of $2,125,000 was apportioned among various foreign mission fields by the board of foreign missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church at the final session of the annual convention here last night. A resolution was adopted at the closing session, which declared the board of foreign missions "regards with deep concern the results of that act of Congress, known as the Japanese exclusion act." The resolution declared the act "hampers missionary work and disturbs international good will."

Stanley Ellis, Speaks on "Giving"

CHARLES HARRIS worked at a book machine next to me for years. He's a fine, square-jawed, be-man, Harris, but that's another story. Last April, a steel splinter put out one of his eyes and weakened the other.

There was a wife and three kids out at Harris' home, and all of us boys wondered just what was going to happen.

Well, it's November now, and Harris is making good money at work that a half-blind man can do. The kids are in school; and they weren't put out of that little home after all.

Sometimes it takes something like that to make a man realize that he ought to care. I'll admit I didn't pay much attention to Charity until I saw that; but now it's different.

If there hadn't been folks who cared, I wonder where Harris and his wife and kids would be today.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—full eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you already per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for salom, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 50c.

"FREE THE DRUG SLAVES," URGES BISHOP BRENT

Geneva Conference Warmly Receives American's Appeal for Definite and Immediate Action.

OTHER COUNTRIES BACK AMERICA

Canada, China and Germany Among Supporters of U. S. Proposal to Curb Narcotic Evil.

By the Associated Press.

GENEVA, Nov. 29.—Canada and China threw their support to the American proposals for the control and ultimate eradication of the narcotic evil when the international opium conference resumed its sessions today.

Dr. Henry S. Bland, speaking for Canada, pointed out that the United States had enacted laws, the enforcement of which would be sufficient to eradicate the opium evil if clandestine and organized smuggling did not flood the whole land with heroin, morphine and cocaine. He insisted that the remedy against the invading plague lay in the hands of the conference and he appealed to all the nations to free humanity "from these hideous monsters."

Alfred Sze, Chinese Minister to the United States, said that the speech delivered yesterday by Bishop Charles H. Brent of the American delegation in elucidating the American proposals, had brought the first ray of sunlight he had seen in Geneva for the last fortnight. This was an allusion to the failure of the preceding conference—this at which dealt with far Eastern opium problems.

Sze thanked Bishop Brent for recommending that nations deriving profit from the sale of opium to smoking addicts should expend this revenue for the unfortunate from whom profits were obtained, remarking he had fought for this principle at the first conference. He conceded that there had been a recrudescence of the cultivation of opium in China.

Bishop Brent's address yesterday was in explanation of the American program. He said that the plan was submitted at this juncture in order that the delegates might have an opportunity "to study, criticize and amend the proposition it contains."

Sze said China would never abandon her policy of total suppression declared in 1906. He gave his pledge that the new Government in Peking again would take steps to free China from the evil. The flood of Chinese opinion, he said, was rapidly rising and only yesterday he received a cablegram from the National Antioptium Association saying it comprised 1300 organizations with 2,000,000 members.

Rumania, Egypt, Ireland and the Dominican Republic all expressed themselves in favor of strict provisions limiting the use of opium and other narcotics to medical and scientific needs. Egypt favored including hashish, or Indian hemp, in the list of dangerous, habit-forming drugs.

Michael MacWhite, for Ireland, urged that the action taken here should not be such as to disappoint the United States, which was co-operating with the League of Nations in this matter.

Says Limitation Is Possible. Sir Malcolm Delevigne of England expressed belief that direct limitation of the production of narcotic drugs was possible.

The Turkish delegate asked to have hashish put on the agenda of the conference. Turkey, he said, merely produces opium, but the Turks themselves never use the drug.

Bishop Brent emphasized that the American program was in the nature of "suggestions" and was an attempt to translate the ideals of the United States into terms of national and international practice. Its purpose, he declared, was that "to which every signatory of The Hague convention is pledged—the ultimate suppression of the use of opium and cocaine and their derivatives, and the restriction of their production and manufacture within the requirements of medicine and science."

The speaker explained that the American program voiced the popular demand, as well as that of Congress, and was supported by or-

Representative of all of the United States. He insisted that the public demands forceful action because the Hague convention, which has been in existence 13 years, has borne relatively little fruit.

"We lay our case before the convention without reserve and without ulterior motives," the Bishop said. "There is no guile hidden beneath our service. If we are bold in our proposals we are also frank in the presentation of them."

"No longer can we honestly say of slavery, or of drug addiction, what Canning once said of chattel slavery: 'Abjure the principle of perpetual slavery, but I am not prepared now to state in what way I would set about its abolition.' Our plan is one of preparation for action."

Money Crux of Situation.
Bishop Brent said that money was the crux of restriction of production and manufacture within the limits of medical and scientific needs. He said, and the rest would be easy. He insisted that the conference must take into account the embarrassment that would be caused certain countries by the suppression of opium production.

He argued that China needed encouragement and the aid of her sister nations to overcome opium and other narcotic abuses, and said that if the countries where the Chinese live in large numbers deal with the matter courageously, it would have its effect on China. He said the question was being asked why profits from the sale of opium, in countries where such sales are legal, could not be used to combat the narcotic evil. The world, he asserted, awaited the answer to this question by the countries which claimed that the traffic in prepared opium is not practiced for revenue.

Pleading for higher standards, Bishop Brent said that the League of Nations and the last compact achieved at Geneva, the protocol for the pacific settlement of international disputes, "are both distinguished instances of advances in the realm of the seemingly impossible adventures of the heart quite as much as of the head." That they are discounted, feared, and criticized, does not pale the real brilliancy of their respective stars, he said.

He insisted that it was better to live in the freedom of bold experiments than to abide in the doubtful security of self-interest and the stagnant pool of the status quo. The American delegates concluded with an eloquent plea for real achievements at the conference and a realization of the great ideal of emancipation of "countless slaves now in bondage to the ruthless master, the narcotic evil."

His discourse was a reference to the League of Nations and the protocol for the pacific settlement of international disputes created extraordinary interest among the delegates as did his remark that all must recognize the essential unity of humanity and that there is no white, yellow, black or brown race.

Germany Backs America.

The delegates from Germany and Czechoslovakia warmly supported America's position. Herr Eckhardt of Germany said that Bishop Brent's discourse would find enthusiastic echo throughout the world. An American representative was elected a member of a commission of 11, who will act as a committee of business and co-ordinate the work of the conference. The other countries represented are France, Japan, England, Switzerland, Holland, Germany, Italy, India, Yugoslavia, and Bolivia. Denmark, China and Cuba will have representatives also who are officers of the conference.

The American proposals call for effective laws prohibiting the manufacture and distribution of heroin, which is the narcotic drug favored by American addicts. They suggest that the importation of opium into far Eastern countries for smoking purposes be brought to an end within 10 years and that a central board of control be created as a clearing house for the reception and fixation of opium and narcotic drug requirements of the various states.

FARM COMMISSION TO STUDY MARKETS AND CATTLE FIRST

Recess Is Ordered Until January to Permit Assembling of Data Pertaining to Work.

By the Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—After deciding to give co-operative marketing and conditions in the cattle industry priority in their study of agricultural problems with a view to having definite conclusions as to these ready for legislative action during the session of Congress which convenes next month, the President's Agricultural Commission recessed after its third session yesterday, probably until January.

While the inquiry in other fields also may have progressed sufficiently before March 4, when the present Congress expires, to permit further conclusions to be presented for possible legislation, Chairman Carey, of the commission, told President Coolidge that the body could not hope to work out its entire program by that time. The recess, Carey explained, was necessary to permit the assembling of the comprehensive data on all Government activities relating to agriculture which the commission has requested as an essential basis for its work.

The reports asked for, will be made available to members of the commission as soon as possible, it was said. The commission, it was explained, can then proceed with the work of building up a comprehensive program of agriculture rehabilitation with the cattle industry and the co-operative marketing.

ST. CLAIR GETS TWO YEARS IN FAKE WHISKY STAMP CASE

Sentenced for Possession of Counterfeit Whisky Revenue Labels.

Albert St. Clair, 65 years old, of 508 South Fourth street, convicted Tuesday by a jury in Federal Court, was sentenced by Federal Judge Paris today to serve two years in the penitentiary for illegal possession of a large quantity of counterfeit whisky revenue stamps when his rooms were raided June 15 last.

Judge Paris, in passing sentence, declared he was being lenient because of St. Clair's age and because he had never been in trouble before. The maximum punishment for the violation is a sentence of five years' imprisonment and a fine of $1000.

St. Clair, who described himself as "a former newspaper reporter, publicist and magazine writer," denied at the trial any knowledge of the presence of cuts and plates for the printing of counterfeit stamps and bogus whisky labels which were found in his rooms. He was arrested on the street with another man who had a suitcase full of counterfeits.

The conviction of St. Clair is the first such case to be tried in Federal Court here. A Government drive against counterfeiters of stamps and labels was begun last summer and several cases are awaiting trial.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Five men and two women, the entire crew of the three-masted schooner Susan B., which sank Tuesday off the Virginia Capes, were rescued by the ocean steamship liner City of Atlanta, a radio message to the company's offices said. The survivors were found in an open boat, almost unconscious from exposure, several hours after their vessel had gone down, according to the message.

The City of Atlanta sailed from Savannah Tuesday and is due at Boston Friday.

CHIEF HOAGLAND AT QUINCY FOR POLICE INQUIRY

Detective Head Investigating Conduct of St. Louis Officers Who Testified in Colbeck Trial.

BOARD TO TAKE UP CASE TOMORROW

Party Given by "Dinty" at Roadhouse Being Looked Into in Connection With the Investigation.

Chief of Detectives Hoagland is in Quincy, Ill., today, completing an investigation into events which preceded the appearance of five St. Louis policemen as defense witnesses in the trial in Federal Court there last week of "Dinty" Colbeck and eight gangster associates who were convicted in the $54,000 Staunton mail robbery.

Chief Hoagland's trip is preliminary to a special meeting tomorrow afternoon of the Board of Police Commissioners, at which an inquiry will be made into the testimony of the officers.

Reports Under Investigation. The Detective Chief's visit was called forth partly by the announcement yesterday afternoon that Chief of Police Kenneth Elmore of Quincy had found one of the St. Louis officers on the street Nov. 11, so helplessly drunk that Elmore put him to bed. This was the night before the officer appeared as a defense witness, Elmore said. Elmore has reported his experience with the intoxicated policeman to Chief of Police O'Brien, but his letter has not been received here yet.

Another object of Chief Hoagland's investigation is a party given at the Rendezvous, a Thirty-sixth street roadhouse in Quincy, by Colbeck, on Nov. 11. While some reports were that St. Louis policemen were guests at the party, other rumors have stated that St. Louis policemen were invited, but that the party was called off because Federal officers were watching the place. Colbeck's expense in hiring entertainers and in obtaining the roadhouse for the evening is said to have run into four figures.

Deny Being at Party. Inspector Vasey has questioned each of the five policemen under inquiry in the matter and all have denied being at the party. The Post-Dispatch has learned, however, that one policeman, specially detailed to the trial and not one of the five under investigation, was at the roadhouse. This policeman asserts he went to the roadhouse with a United States Deputy Marshal when it was learned that the party was to be given, and declares that when he and the deputy were seen there the party was called off. The policeman probably will be one of the witnesses at the hearing tomorrow. Detective Charles Busch, one of the St. Louis officers who helped make the case which resulted in conviction of the nine defendants, visited the Rendezvous on the night of the party, but got only as far as the front door. Busch told reporters he saw Colbeck and "Chippy" Robinson on the dance floor and decided it "was no place for a policeman."

Investigation also is being made by Inspector Vasey of rumors that St. Louis policemen were guests of the Egan gang before the trial, either at their roadhouse, Maxwellton, or at other county resorts, but no confirmation of the rumor has yet been obtained. Today the inspector questioned St. Louis civilians who were at the trial, including newspaper reporters assigned there. The inspector's report will be submitted to the board with the other evidence tomorrow.

Transcript of Testimony. President Brockman of the Police Board has a transcript of the testimony of the five policemen who appeared as defense witnesses in the mail robbery trial and it will be laid before the board for consideration. The defense witnesses were Capt. William Stinger, commanding Angelica Street District; Lieut. William Walton of the Dayton Street District; Detective Lieut. William C. Murphy of the Secret Service Bureau; Detective Sergt. Leonard Ising of the Secret Service Bureau; and Sergt. Peter McGauley of the Carr Street District.

When seen by a Post-Dispatch correspondent at Quincy at noon, Chief Hoagland said he was under orders to make no statement for publication on his findings prior to tomorrow's meeting. Asked if he had found anything to support charges, he admitted he had come across "a few things," but declined to say more.

He was accompanied to Quincy by Lieut. Aylward and Sergt. Eganreither. They drove to Quincy in a department automobile and will return the same way.

Convict Escapes at Capitol. BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 20.—J. A. Gibbs, a convict from Cape Girardeau, disappeared yesterday from a gang of prisoners working on the Capitol grounds. Prison officials think he sought concealment in the rammoth basement under the State House.

The Man Nobody Knows

A LITTLE BOY sat in Sunday school, thirty years ago, and looked at three pictures on the wall. One of them showed Daniel in the lions' den. The boy liked Daniel. He liked David, too. David was a fighter...

But the third picture showed a pale young man, with flabby forearms and a meek, sad expression. The young man had red whiskers.

Sunday was this man's day; it was wrong to feel happy or to laugh on Sunday.

Years went by, and the Sunday school boy grew up and became a business man. He got to wondering about Jesus. He said to himself:

"It is strange that a leader who is represented as such a weakling should have had such an influence. Only strong, magnetic men inspire great enthusiasm and build great organizations. Yet he built the greatest organization of all."

And so the man wiped his mind clean of pictures of Jesus. He began to read what the men who knew Jesus personally said about him. The result is amazing.

Was Jesus a weakling? He pushed a plane, swung an ax. He was a successful carpenter. He slept outdoors whenever he could. He could face a furious mob, and overawe every man in it.

A killjoy? He was the most popular dinner guest in Jerusalem. He was criticised because he spent so much time with publicans and sinners and because he enjoyed society too much.

A failure? He picked up twelve ordinary men and forged them into an organization that conquered the world.

Some day, said the business man to himself, there will be a book about the real Jesus. But no book came. The man grew impatient, and wrote it himself. It begins in the December number of the Woman's Home Companion.

Once in a great while, some magazine secures a really great contribution. It cannot always be foreseen. Authors may fail; editors may not recognize greatness in manuscript.

But this contribution, which you can begin reading today, has had an electric effect on everyone who has seen it. People expect much from its author; but now he has excelled himself. People expect much from the Companion. But this time the Companion has secured the most extraordinary book of our day.

Its title is "The Man Nobody Knows." Its appearance in the Woman's Home Companion at this time is one more proof that this magazine is consistently just a little bit ahead.

EACH RADIATOR AN INDEPENDENT STEAM HEATING PLANT

The colds and throat troubles due to air that is dried out by ordinary methods of heating will soon begin to be common.

Most people accept them as a necessary evil. Others go to the expense and trouble of providing humidifiers to keep the air normal.

With Clow Gasteam Radiators neither the colds nor the humidifiers are necessary. These radiators represent the only type of heating system that preserves the normal moisture of the air.

For Clow Gasteam Radiators you don't need a cellar, or stored fuel. You don't need expensive piping. You don't have to worry about keeping the fire going, nor about smoke, dust, grime, or fire risk.

When you want steam heat, you turn a valve and light. They are automatically regulated.

You don't have to use your entire installation of Clow Gasteam Radiators when you don't want to. Just light as many as you think you need.

Mrs. Whiteside Speaks on "Giving"

Six days out of every seven—and often far into the nights—I sew, always sewing.

These poor eyes will fail sometime—and then what? Sickness may come and interrupt the little trickling of funds that makes it possible for me to live.

I must help now, because I may seek help later. But please don't think that only selfishness makes me care. "Giving" brings joy to me—one of the few joys I can afford.

Of course, you who are in a better position to help, will get just as much joy from giving as I.

FILM BARRED AFTER ARREST OF 3 FOR PUBLICITY STUNT
San Diego Theater Man, Press Agent and Another Admit Planting Fake Infernal Machine.
By the Associated Press.
SAN DIEGO, Cal., Nov. 28.—Max Brunstein, manager of a motion picture theater, his press agent, C. C. Pratt, and William F. Fife, were arrested yesterday, following their confession to planting a bogus infernal machine with a smoke fuse in the editorial rooms of the San Diego Union.
Brunstein and Pratt admitted hiring Fife for $2 to place the suitcase, containing realistic clock-works, battery and wire connections with what appeared to be six sticks of dynamite as a publicity stunt for a "dynamiter" film to show here soon, the police said.
Following the arrests and alleged confessions, the Chief of Police and members of the City Council announced that a showing of the film would not be permitted here, that the manager and his assistants would be held in jail pending further action, and the District Attorney was asked to determine whether or a felony charge could be brought against the two. Action also will be taken to cancel the theater's license.

LOS ANGELES WATER AGAIN FLOWS THROUGH AQUEDUCT
Ranchers Close Gates of Spillway on Receiving Promise of Adjustment From Bankers.
By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 28.—The waters of the Los Angeles aqueduct, diverted into Owens Lake last Sunday by a raiding party of Owens Valley ranchers, who seized and opened the Alabama water-gates north of Lone Pine, Inyo County, were turned back into their course by the raiding party at 2:40 a. m. today, says a dispatch to the Times.
The ranchers' decision to abandon their announced determination to hold the gates open until State troops are sent or Los Angeles comes to our terms, was reached at a conference of leaders on the shores of Owens Lake, during the night. It was reached as a direct result of the resolutions adopted Tuesday by the Los Angeles Clearing House Association promising its co-operation in promoting a settlement of the water rights feud, "providing the gates are closed."

FISH ARE TAGGED SO THEIR WANDERINGS MAY BE TRACED
Small Pieces of Aluminum Are Clamped on Tails of 10,000 Salmon in California.
By the Associated Press.
PALO ALTO, Cal., Nov. 28.—Fish can be trailed in their wanderings around the oceans in a manner not unlike police methods of tracing automobiles by their license numbers, according to Charles H. Gilbert, professor of zoology at Stanford University.
Prof. Gilbert explains that "sculpin" render a good deal of bringing up of the fish as well as furnish birth certificates and automatic age recorders, and show the approximate weight and size at any time during its past growth.
A few scales were scraped from the back of a salmon and stuck in a book opposite a number. A small aluminum tag bearing this number is clamped on the fish's tail and it is thrown back into the water. Under Dr. Gilbert's direction more than 10,000 salmon were tagged in this way last year.

CONVICTED BANK CASHIER DREW SALARY FOR LOANS
John M. Speers Admits in Peoria Bankruptcy Hearing He Was Paid by Oll Company.
PEORIA, Ill., Nov. 28.—John M. Speers, former cashier of the First Du Lac Bank, East Peoria, now serving a sentence in the Joliet penitentiary for embezzling $171,000 of the bank's funds, testified yesterday that he was on the payroll of the bankrupt E. A. Swanson's Oil Co. Speers said he received $300 a month from Swanson in return for loans made on collateral of little or no value.
The bank lost $171,000 on the deals. Swanson also purchased him an automobile, Speers said.
Speers was brought to Peoria to testify in the bankruptcy hearing now in progress in the Federal Court.

CAPTAIN SMUTS, MAY YOHE'S HUSBAND, SHOT

'Don't Make Trouble for My Wife,' Says Cousin of War Hero.

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, Nov. 20.—Capt. John A. Smuts, cousin of Gen. Jan Smuts, South African war hero, is resting comfortably today at a hospital, where he was taken last night with a bullet wound in his chest.

In the meantime the police are investigating the circumstances of the shooting, which Capt. Smuts said was accidental.

A note found at the South End lodging house where Smuts and his wife, formerly May Yohe, actress, had resided for two weeks, indicated that he had planned to end his life.

Last night Mrs. Smuts summoned a physician and Capt. Smuts was taken to the hospital. The shooting occurred yesterday afternoon.

Capt. Smuts said he was sitting on a bed cleaning a small caliber revolver when it was discharged accidentally.

In a search of the house the police found a note which read: "I intend to shoot myself because I have been unkind to my wife."

The note was signed "J. A. Smuts," but the police said note and signature were in different handwriting. When questioned at the hospital Capt. Smuts warned the authorities not to make trouble for his wife, and said:

"It makes no difference who shot me. If you make trouble for my wife I will maintain that I shot myself, no matter what you say. I can stand this. I love my wife."

Capt. and Mrs. Smuts came to Boston two weeks ago. Mrs. Smuts is May Yohe, formerly the wife of Lord Francis Hope, and later was married to Capt. Putnam Bradley Strong, son of a former Mayor of New York. She was married to Capt. Smuts in London in 1912. As the wife of Lord Hope she became possessor of the Hope diamond.

CRUMP & TREZEVANT, INC., doing business in Memphis, West Tennessee and the principal cities of Arkansas, take pleasure in announcing that we have opened a St. Louis office at No. 17 North Seventh Street in the Title Guaranty Building for the purpose of making real estate loans in this city and county as

CORRESPONDENTS OF THE METROPOLITAN LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY (LARGEST IN THE WORLD)

We make loans for the building of bungalows, two-story dwellings, flats, apartments and business property, as well as on buildings already constructed. OUR APPRAISEMENTS WILL BE PROMPT AND LOANS QUICKLY MADE WITH ABSOLUTELY NO RED TAPE AND NO DELAY.

Our 3 to 15 YEAR EASY PAYMENT loans apply to houses already built, as well as to those under construction, WITH THE PRIVILEGE OF REPAYMENT AFTER THREE YEARS, OR ON ANY SEMI-ANNUAL INTEREST-PAYING DATE THEREAFTER. The duration of this loan is entirely optional with the borrower. THERE IS BUT ONE COMMISSION AND ONE EXAMINATION OF TITLE, or, in other words, but one expense, RUNNING FOR THE ENTIRE FIFTEEN YEARS.

This plan eliminates the necessity, time and expense of making renewals under the NOW ANTIQUATED three or five year renewal plan. We wish to emphasize the point that our 3 to 15 year easy-payment plan, with the privilege of repayment after three years, gives the borrower every opportunity to pay out his entire loan without the fear of foreclosure and the loss incident thereto, which the three or five year plan does not do.

Under the three or five year plan the last payment is by far the largest, almost invariably compelling the borrower to renew his loan with a duplication of the expense of the first loan. Under our 3 to 15 year easy-payment plan the loan gradually reduces itself in small, easy payments until the full amount has been taken up without worry or strain upon the borrower.

We Loan Money to Build New Homes on 3 to 15 Year Easy Payments

If your present mortgage loan on your bungalow, two-story dwelling, flat, apartment or business property will mature shortly, we shall be glad to discuss with you our 3 to 15 year easy-repayment plan with a view of refinancing you.

"Denny" Carroll Speaks on "Giving"

We newspaper reporters believe that we have a better chance to see life as it really is than most any other people.

Hospitals, divorce courts, jails. We visit these places where the sordid stories of life are enacted. We see how many helpless people there are. We know that one of life's greatest needs is—people who care.

A fellow would have to be pretty thick skinned to see these painful scenes, day after day, and still not care. We report these tragedies to the rest of the world; and still weary to prevent them—by giving.

"TEMPORARILY"
ON CITY PAYROLL
FOR SIX YEARSResearch Bureau Reports
Some Building Inspectors
Have Never Taken Required Examination.VIOLATION OF THE CHARTER ALLEGEDRules Governing the Efficiency Board Cited in Statement to Mayor on the Matter.

Thirty-four inspectors and enforcement officers of the Department of Public Safety, building inspection division, are serving without having passed examinations of the Efficiency Board, the Bureau of Municipal Research announces today in its weekly "Mind Your Business."

Some of the unexamined inspectors, it is stated, are "temporary" employees who have been on the city payroll six years. Their employment, it is charged, is in violation of the charter.

The Bureau's statement, addressed to Mayor Kiel, is:

"There are employed in the Division of Building Inspection of the Department of Public Safety a Chief Inspector of Buildings at $25 per month, 22 building inspectors at $145 per month, and seven building ordinance enforcement officers at $160 per month.

The total salary paid these men who are employed to inspect the construction and safe condition of buildings amounts to $64,980 per year.

The rules governing the Efficiency Board and Classified Service require that applicants for these positions shall be subject to examinations to determine their qualifications.

"Not one of these employees has been required to take an examination."

Status of Ten of Them.

"Ten were in the city service when the present city charter was passed in 1914 and under the provisions of the charter are classed as permanent employees and exempt from examination."

"Five were made permanent employees by resolution of the Efficiency Board in April, 1918."

"Fifteen or 50 per cent are temporary employees."

The charter provides that in the absence of an eligible list, temporary employees may be appointed without examination for a period not exceeding 60 days.

"All of the 15 temporary employees have been temporary building inspectors from one to six years. Two were appointed in 1918, four in 1920, three in 1922 and six in 1923."

One Woman Inspector.

"Fire prevention inspection is performed by a young woman who was appointed temporary building inspector in 1921 without examination. Since 1922 she has been carried on the payroll as a draftsman, now receiving $150 per month. She does no drafting work nor is there any record of her having qualified as a draftsman."

"Of 12 inspectors of boilers and elevators, four are temporary employees and have not taken the examination."

"One of the four temporary employees was promoted from clerk to boiler inspector in 1918. The three others were appointed without examination in May, 1924."

The inspectors in these divisions are responsible for the reporting of boiler, elevator and building conditions which violate laws passed for the protection and safety of citizens.

Charter Violation Charged.

The employment of inspectors without examination has been continued in violation of charter provisions relating to the classified service.

"No examination for building inspectors has been held during the past six years."

"It has been claimed that the salary rate has been too low to attract capable people to take the examination. However, without examination, the inspection force has been maintained at full strength at the salary rate provided."

"If employees are not sufficiently capable to pass the necessary examinations, are they qualified to perform the duties of their positions?"

Statement of Christopel.

Director Christopel of the Department of Public Safety, who recently succeeded James N. McKelvey in that position, said today that the bureau's statements, as to in-

Muny Opera Repertoire.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

As the Municipal Opera has come to be the most important part of my summer program, I am naturally interested in the repertoire the association will pick for the 1925 season. Here are my 16 suggestions.

"The Firefly" and "Naughty Marietta" were the two best operas of the 1924 season. I would personally rather see them again than any of the others. "Marietta" could easily be given a third time, but I suppose we will have no such good luck. Certainly "The Firefly" should be repeated. I know the company lost money on it this year. It could not have done otherwise, under such weather conditions. It was a week of rain and freezing cold. If this opera were repeated next year as the ninth or tenth production, when the season is at its best, and it is warmer, it would make the big profit "Naughty Marietta" did this year under the same circumstances. That opera lost money in 1923, the opening week, the same way "Firefly" did, given as the second production this year. But "Marietta" was the most profitable opera of 1924. "Firefly" would make money the same way next year. It never had a real chance out in Forest Park. Given as the opening, in 1920, it was again at a disadvantage, as it takes several weeks to get the season started. It is too beautiful an opera to omit next year.

Then "The Chimes of Normandy" deserves a reproduction. And "The Gypsy Baron" was one of the best productions of the six years. Then the ever popular "Merry Widow" which, I believe, still holds the attendance record. It is a lovely piece of work. Also there are the operas of Victor Herbert. We should have at least two each year, and more would be welcomed. "Mlle. Modiste" should be given. Herbert's favorite composition, "Kiss Me Again," is in it. "The Red Mill" is brimming over with tuneful melodies, and would be good for production. Then Herbert's Irish opera, "Elleen." Every Irishman in St. Louis would turn out for that. Gilbert & Sullivan should be represented next year, especially by "Pinafore." It may be short (that seems to be the main objection), but music lovers would be so glad to hear it again they would not criticize its length, and the less musical would welcome a short opera. Then there is "Dolly Varden," so very pretty. It would be lovely out in the park. And "Erminie" would be a sure hit.

I hope next year's repertoire will include some of these operas. At least, they are all popular, and are sure to please the public.

SEASON SUBSCRIBER.

A Real Independent.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

A SUGGESTION is hereby ventured as to independent candidates in the municipal campaign of next spring. The suggestion is that if there is to be an independent candidate, it should be a genuinely independent one, and not a camouflage device of a minority party. The independent candidate should announce himself as such, before the party primaries are held. Then, if any party can do so, without destroying his independence, make only after a man has been put forward as a partisan candidate, are not convincing to the voters. This is written in the belief that the right sort of independent candidate would be by no means hopeless. H.

Help the Humane Society.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE Humane Society of St. Louis has lately made appeal to the public for help in continuing its work, mentioning a possibility of its being obliged to drop the work for want of funds. If such a thing should be allowed to occur it would send St. Louis sliding backwards a long step toward the dark ages.

St. Louis is ambitious. St. Louis has money. St. Louis is generous. Not the result of the animal drives. But the result of the humane drive. But the humane drive is forced to close its doors for lack of support (and interest) from its city. St. Louis cannot hope to take a front rank in civilization for some time to come. The society should be enlarged, instead of circumscribed. It is distressing to consider the number of cases of overworking, overdriving, underfeeding—and who knows how many other abuses—of work animals that exist now, not to mention the lean, bony dogs left to hunt scraps in the gutters, cats abandoned in vacant buildings, and a string of other such outrages. Without a humane society, what would the situation be?

It will be a large and very black smudge on "fair" St. Louis if her citizens allow the animal shelter to be done away with and the Humane Society to close its doors.

Friends, can't we keep that disgrace from our skirts? Can't we whoop it up a little for the society? Let's have a humane week—and have one often.

H. W. S.

OFFICIAL LYNCH LAW.

There is a sharp contrast between the preaching of Victor Miller, former President of the Board of Police Commissioners, who has announced himself a candidate for the mayoralty, and his practice while in office.

Speaking to the Lions Club on his favorite theme, law enforcement, he suggested remedies for prevailing lawlessness. One was the better training of children by their parents. That is obvious. But how to get parents who neglect their children or who are incapable of giving them good training to reform their ways and train their children as they ought to be trained, is as big a problem as the checking of lawlessness.

Another remedy he suggested is the enforcement of criminal law. Assuming that he means enforcement by process of law in the courts, the remedy is good. One of the important factors in the rise of banditry and gangsterism and crime generally is the inefficiency of courts, and the archaic procedure which gives criminals the benefit of long-delayed and technical devices to obstruct the administration of justice.

In practice, however, Mr. Miller followed the policy of ordering the police to administer summary justice, on the streets, in the alleys, in restaurants and hotels, and in the station houses. He ordered them to arrest all suspects, regardless of evidence, all police characters, to beat them up and treat them rough. Suspicion was the ground of action on the part of the police. The gun, the club and the fist were the instruments of justice.

This policy of official lawlessness created more hostility to the police and drove more young men into criminal gangs than had been accomplished in that vicious direction for years before.

The Chicago police authorities have adopted a similar policy. Their program is to arrest every man with a police record and drive him from Chicago; and to beat up and shoot gang members on the spot, without taking them into court. Police Chief Collins is quoted as saying that special squads will not trouble about taking gangs to court, but will deal out justice in alleys, soft-drink parlors, or wherever gangs are found.

This is not a policy of law enforcement; it is a declaration of war against all citizens suspected by the police of being criminals or gangsters. No trial by jury is accorded any man whom the police suspect. They are to be lynched on the spot; shot, beaten up or driven out of the city, at the will of the policemen. The police are to be the judges, juries and executioners. The discretion lies wholly in their hands. They can "bump off," beat up or drive out of the city any citizen they want to get rid of or take vengeance on.

We need not look far for the causes of lawlessness in America when authorities resort to these lawless methods of putting down crime. It illustrates the American way. When the courts do not operate efficiently, the people become impatient, and either the people or the authorities take the law into their own hands.

The Ku Klux Klan is the outgrowth of this spirit. It deals summarily, with lash, gun and rope, with people who do not conduct themselves as its members think they ought. The lynching mob formed by people who are unwilling to await the processes of law or have lost confidence in legal processes is another phase of it. The worst phase of it is the official lawlessness illustrated by the Miller policy in St. Louis, and adopted by the Chicago police authorities. Philadelphia is just recovering from a reign of terror and lawlessness inaugurated by an officer of marines who adopted military tactics in dealing with the criminal laws.

When the authorities disregard the law, and trample on the rights of citizens, how can the people be expected to have any respect for either the authorities or the law?

Of course, it may come to pass, if the courts are incompetent to deal with violations of law, either through corrupt influences or inefficient modes of procedure, that the people will lose all confidence in them and will take the law into their own hands for self-protection. In order to avoid such wholesale lawlessness, we ought to bend every effort to the reform of legal procedure and of the courts. We ought to seek carefully the causes of the increase of crime and make an earnest effort to remove them.

One of the principal causes is the multiplication of laws, particularly summary laws, which are designed to control the private morals and habits and conduct of the people. These laws cause resentment among great masses of the people who oppose them, violate them, and this tends to bring all laws into contempt. As Attorney-General Stone aptly remarked: "We disregard the principle that there is a point beyond which the restraints of positive law cannot be carried without placing too great a strain on the machinery and agencies of law enforcement. We build up our administrative machinery with ever-increasing power and authority of administrative officers, at the expense of the individual liberty and freedom of the citizen."

If we would reduce our legal restraints to the prevention and punishment of actual crimes against society, reform our legal procedure, and elevate the bench to the highest standard of honesty and capacity, we would go far towards the restoration of confidence in and respect for the laws and the courts, and towards the prevention of crime.

ANOTHER BLOW TO PEACE.

The rejection of the protocol of disarmament and arbitration of the League of Nations by the new British Government comes as a blow to the progress of the world's organized peace efforts. It would be interesting to know whether the British Government took such action for the reasons stated or whether it merely chose, like our Republican Senators four years ago, to reverse the policy of the opposition party and sought reasons to justify this course.

The reasons for the British action given by Mr. Balderson, London correspondent of the Post-Dispatch, are: Disagreement with the desire of the French and Japanese, secretly conveyed, that the League of Nations forestall the United States in calling a disarmament conference, and the dissatisfaction of Australia, Canada and the United States with the Japanese amendments to the protocol touching the subject of immigration. Japan, it will be recalled, demanded merely that she be heard before the sanctions of the League be applied against her in disputes arising out of immigration differences.

With Japan standing alone on the immigration question it does not seem that the alleged menace in her attitude is as great as that contained in the defeat of the protocol and the setting back of peace efforts inviting further irritations. Significant in the developments is the fact that Mussolini, of Corfu fame, expressed doubts a few days ago as to the wisdom of Italian ratification.

WASTING FOREST WEALTH.

A timberless future, and a timber famine within the next 50 years, were predicted by President Coolidge in his address Wednesday before the national conference on utilization of forest products. The conference was called as one of the last official acts of the late Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

The fact that we are denuding our forest areas at a ruinous rate has been general knowledge for years. Perhaps the most striking figures brought forward by President Coolidge are the annual drain of 25,000,000 cubic feet of lumber, while, at the present rate of replanting or lack of planting we have only an annual growth of 6,000,000,000 feet to replace the lumber cut. The rate of cutting increases, but the rate of replanting is so slow that the dire forecast of a timberless future is justified by the facts.

The American Forestry Association, which meets in January to take steps to further forest conservation, points out that, due to the autumn drought, every part of the country has suffered from forest fires to an unusual extent, and that it is highly important for the states, especially in the East and Far West, to take advantage of the offer of the Federal Government to put up dollar for dollar of any amounts provided by the states for the purpose of fighting forest fires, up to $2,500,000 annually. A large number of states are apathetic regarding forest conservation, and have made no movement to protect their forests through the use of this Federal fund.

A recent news item was to the effect that Sweden has cut timber in her forests for a thousand years without depleting the annual supply, although she exports $183,000,000 worth of lumber and wood products annually. Other European countries have set us a similar example in conservation. But so far we have failed to take practical steps to prevent the destruction of our forests. This means, as President Coolidge points out, that we are ourselves working towards the ruin of our third largest industry.

Replanting and fire prevention are the two most important methods of saving the industry and providing for our future needs. The national and state governments cannot do all that is needed. Corporations and individuals must do their share. Waste must be stopped. Replacement must catch up with timber cutting.

POST-MORTEM AND PROPHECY.

In an interview with Paul Y. Anderson of the Post-Dispatch, Senator Wheeler offered the first post-mortem of the election coming from a spokesman of the late La Follette ticket. His analysis was not unlike other, including that of the Post-Dispatch. He predicts a tremendous reaction when the voters, no longer than two years hence, come to a realization of how they have been deluded.

The insurgent Democratic Senator shows signs of recanting somewhat from his campaign attitude toward the Democrats and Mr. Davis. "Despite his Wall street antecedents," says Wheeler of the late Democratic standard bearer, "his enlightened and liberal attitude during the campaign aroused much admiration among the progressives. He was a better candidate than the Democrats had reason to expect him to be when they nominated him."

Apparently Senator Wheeler now sees the folly of dividing liberal forces in the common cause of fighting Republican reaction. It is also plain before his eyes that the precipitate action of the progressives in putting a ticket into the field before the liberalism of Davis had had time to give an account of itself smacked more of personal ambition and uncalculated adventure than of wise tactics. It should be apparent to him, moreover, that a strong liberal cause should not be burdened with radical proposals which, as in the late campaign, only supply the Republicans with vote-making ammunition. Wheeler has seen the cause of liberalism go down in one campaign because of overconfidence and a division of the opposition to reactionism. May his predictions of the coming wave of reaction be leavened with caution.

A STAVE TO THE LOAFERS.

President Coolidge's decision not to take a vacation, as many of his close friends have urged, but to stick resolutely to his desk, will doubtless evoke a chorus of commendation. Our voice will not be heard in ensemble.

It was Emerson, as we remember, who observed that "every man is as lazy as he dares to be." That is to say we are all prone to follow our line of least resistance. But there are vigorous, admirable exceptions. There are men to whom the moody November twilight is a summons. The ruins of time, in which here and there a flash of splendor still lingers, beckon and they answer. There is a beguiling charm in the devastated area of the year as the golden duck drifts down. There is poetry in the silvery call of the quail, in the swift, rhythmic flight of the ducks—a prophesy of candle lights and burgundy and, mayhap, the sparkle of that wine of Burgundy which some Gallic gallant toasted as the "mother" of song.

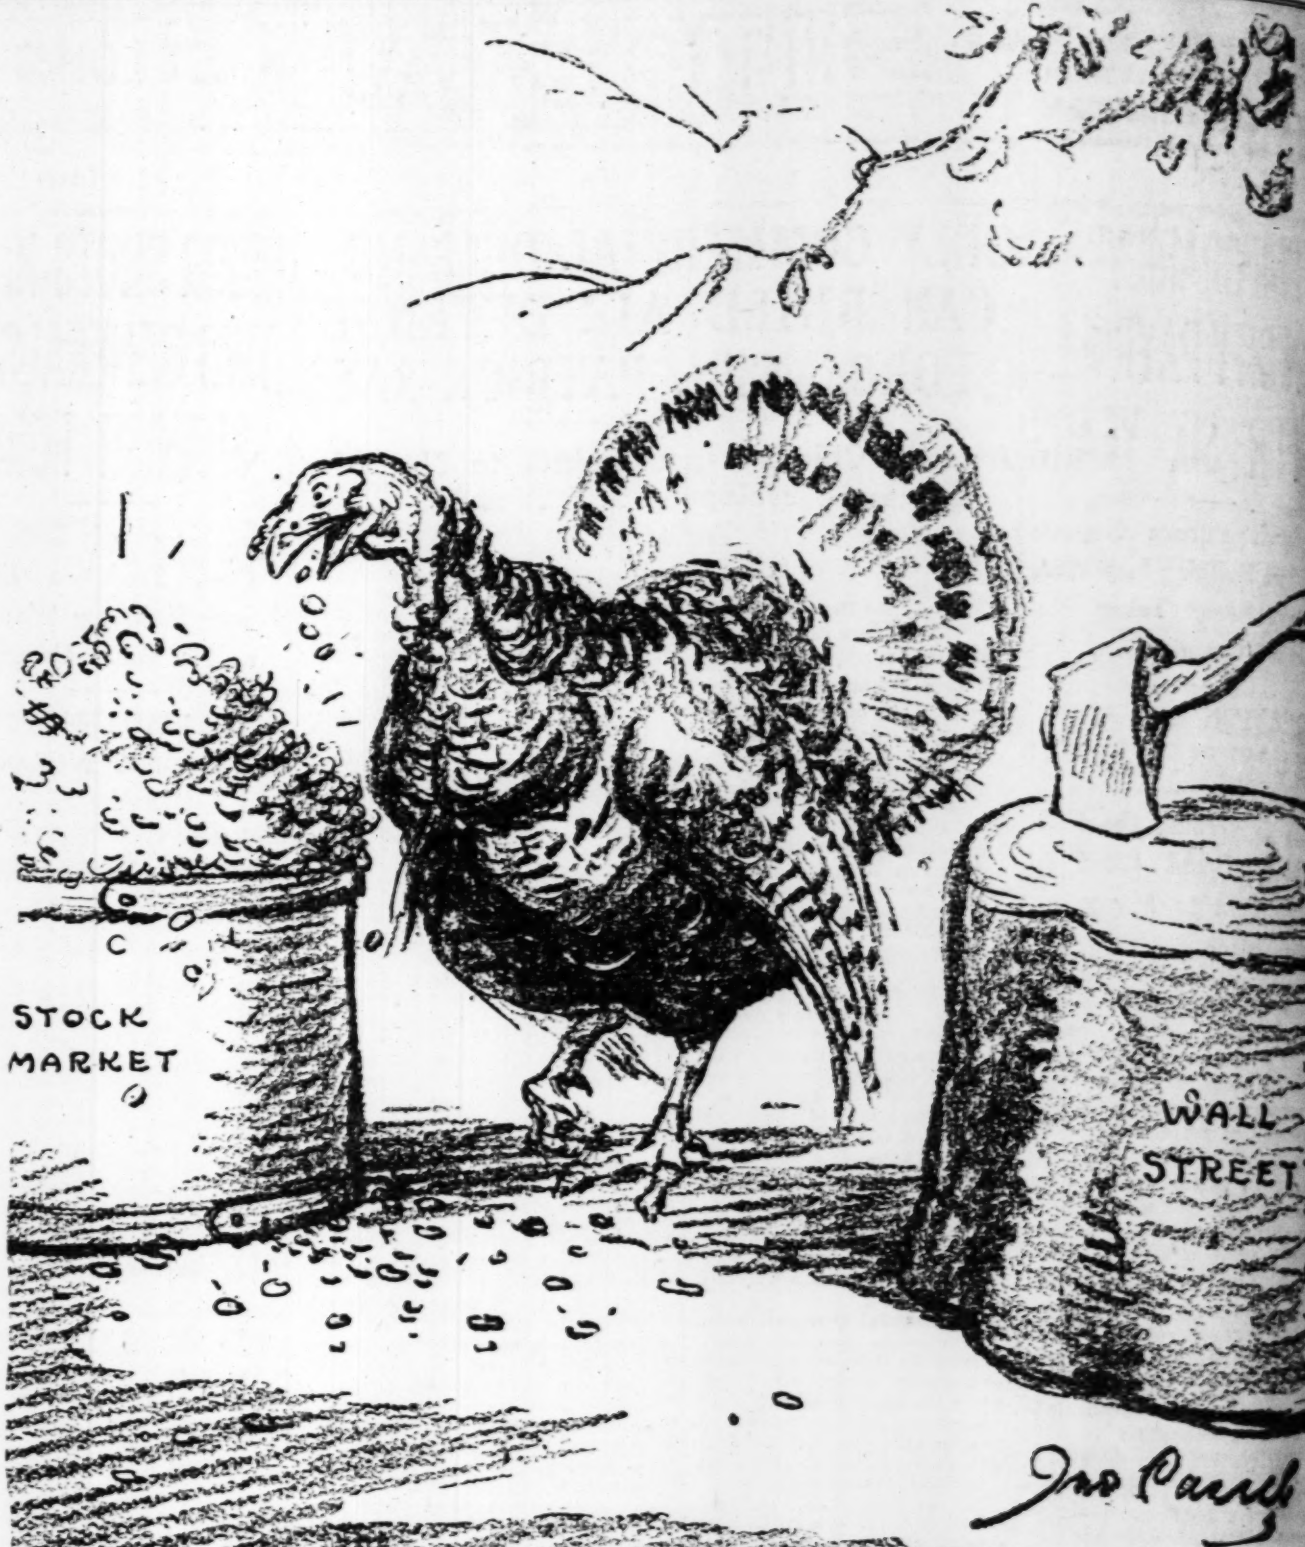

A stave, then, to those men among us still whom civilization has not yet vanquished. Men who sternly close the desk and with dog and gun go forth into the sacramental spaces and hunt and hunt and hunt, oblivious of desk and duties. Anybody can work. It takes a hero to loaf.

GIRL SCOUTS AND COOKING.

There is a prevalent opinion, not without some justification, that the modern girl is drifting away from her traditional work as a home maker. Predictions are freely made that another generation will witness the passing of the real home, with families merely having rooms in which to sleep, and with community kitchens to relieve the women of home work.

It is gratifying to find that no such thought is entertained by the great organization of the Girl Scouts. Last year almost 4000 girls successfully passed their tests as cooks, and among the 55 merit badges that are awarded, the highest goes to those who prove themselves superior in domestic science.

This is a splendid showing for the Girl Scouts, who are not only taking their members back to nature and strengthening their bodies through wholesome outdoor exercise, but are holding them to the old virtues for which no satisfactory substitute has been suggested.

PANTELEA.

Yes, Luella,
Stocks are popping
Down on Wall street.
Sure enough,
Looks as if
The campaign promise
Could not just
Have been a bluff.
Anyway,
The times are piping
Just as everybody said,
And regrets,
If there were any,
Must by this
Be pretty dead.

Naturally,
Little girlie,
Not the whole
Can well remain
Permanently
To the market
As an honest
Truly gain,
Some of it,
Of course,
Is fireworks
Such as Wall street
Only fires
In the way
Of rattifying
Consummating
Its desires.

All the same,
The times are piping.
Just as sure
As you were born,
And we therefore
Stand expectant
At the mouth
Of Plenty's horn.
We, who had
Naively fancied
Some things more
Than Fortune's peers,
Are to have
The sound of money
Fairly flung
In our ears.

Let us therefore
In the spirit
Of our generation
Pull
For the golden calf
Becoming
Day by day
The golden bull.
Each one on
His tiptoes rising,
One with Wall street's
Fervid joy,
And at each
Increase in values
All exclaiming
"Atta boy!"

Thus forgetting
All that happened,
Whether good
Or whether bad,
At what it
At last has come to
In our hearts
Relieved and glad,
Just as if
Beside the prospect
Of the country
Doing well,
Happier were any better
Off than snowballs
Are in Hell.

Mr. Davis, defeated once, to Europe: Mr. Bryan, three times, around the world.

POET KNOCKS OUT PUGILIST.

(Boston Transcript.)

Edwin Markham, the poet, was a visitor at City Hall this morning, being received by Mayor Curley in his office. In signing the visitors' registration book, Mr. Markham wrote the following:

DUTY.

When duty comes a-knocking at the gate
Welcome him in; for if you bid him wait
He will depart, only to come once more
And bring seven other duties to your door.

At the end of the verse Mr. Markham signed his name. Another visitor who called upon the Mayor was William Harrison Dempsey, the world champion. Mr. Dempsey did not write any poetry.

Following the example of Mr. McAdoo the politically late Mr. Davis is now going to Europe. You need to be pulled together and set going again after you have experienced what these gentlemen have gone through, and that is all Europe is doing in these hopeful times.

Mr. Doheny's lawyer assures us that except for his client's co-operation with the navy at Pearl Harbor we could not rest tonight secure from the thought of Mongol invasion, which follows the custom of importing peril from some far-away country when anybody gets in bad.

Canadian farmers are thrashing in the snow and hauling their grain in sleds. They have it on us in being able to keep cool with the climate.

Aviators are going to make it rain by exploding sand bombs in passing storm clouds. It cannot be long until deserts are a thing of the past. However, we will have sheiks.

In view of the fact that the South for years stood firmly against woman suffrage, it is interesting to note that Georgia sent the first woman to the Senate and Texas was the first State to nominate a woman for Governor. So there!

COLLEGIATE PHILOSOPHY.

Every girl that has walked home hasn't refused to ride?
Every man has two opinions of a woman: What she is, and what he wishes she was.

The woman pays! A lot of attention to the new man in the small town.

MARLOWE BAILEY.

Since prohibition has been inflicted there are mighty few men who will come home singing. It is the era of the church choir.

MARK THOMAS.

Sign on Olive street:

We will be right out the first time any thing hits us.

COOLIDGEISM.

"I want to make recognition of the part he played in this community and in the nation, to tell you of my own grief in his going and to extend all sympathy and condolence in your great loss."

The MIRROR OF PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to represent without bias the latest comment by the leading publicists, newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

WOMEN AND WAR REMEDIES.

From the Dallas Dispatch.
SIX large women's organizations are going to meet in Washington next January to determine the cause and cure of war. The women have allowed themselves three days in which to decide upon the fundamental causes of war and three more for determining a certain remedy. After that the delegates will return to their various home groups and proceed to do whatever they have decided upon. Men from the beginning of their experience and wisdom will be indulged at the modest program of the conference, and then go on the way, thinking no more about it all. It is a loss, of course, for several thousand women to think they can meet together and solve in six days the problem that has consumed the world for thousands of ages.

And yet—
It was ridiculous for David to try to kill Goliath. Foolishness for Columbus to sail across the earth. Nonsense for Wright brothers to dream they could fly. Suppose they hadn't tried!

SEEING THINGS.

From the Baltimore Evening Sun.
COUNT that day lost whose low-down Japanese plot which produces shivers in the spine. Not long ago a yellow man was found measuring a Baltimore highway with a tape line. Suspicious! It was near a trolley tunnel, too. Ah, ha! The Japs were preparing to invade our fair city and take up its tunnels. The indignation when there was only partly alarmed when the "Japs" was found to be an insignificant Chinese man—and even the most suspicious Chinese per center can hardly fear that the Chinese will shortly invade us. Now comes another menacing move from Nippon. Just a dozen or so of Japs have crossed the line from California to Mexico. What are they intending to do with the region beyond the Granddaddy with horde of little brown men attack us from that point of vantage? The battlements, oh patriots! The new news from the South may bring to our ears the clash of resounding arms.

AMERICAN TRAVEL IN CANADA.
From the Washington Post.
THE immense increase in the number of American travelers in Canada is today a source of very considerable revenue to the inhabitants of the Dominion. It is estimated that over a half a billion dollars were spent in Canada in the last 12 months by tourists from the United States.

So great was this expenditure that it is credited with having greatly contributed to the recent rise to par of the Canadian dollar. Two main reasons are given for the great increase in the number of American visitors, the development of travel by motor car and the existence of the eighth amendment. The number of people who prefer motor-car travel to travel by railway is increasing day by day and the pleasure is enhanced by the possibility of obtaining the form of refreshment on the Volstead law frown.

GILBERT KAHN, SON OF BANKER, WEDS

Bride Is Daughter of Chas. A. Whelan, Head of United Cigar Stores.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Gilbert W. Kahn, son of the international banker and financier, Otto H. Kahn and Miss Anne Whelan of East Orange, N. J., daughter of Charles A. Whelan, president of the United Cigar Stores, were married in the Italian garden of the Hotel Ambassador yesterday afternoon. Large fortunes are represented by the two families.

The ceremony—following the rites of the Roman Catholic Church—was performed by the Rev. Father John B. Kelly, spiritual director of the Catholic Writers Bureau, assisted by the pastor of the bride, the Rev. Father Matthew Farley of East Orange.

By the agreement entered into by the bridegroom, a non-Catholic, before sanction of the Catholic Church was given for the ceremony, the offspring of the marriage will be raised in the Catholic faith.

Mr. Kahn, a member of the class of 1924 at Princeton, said he had met Miss Whelan crossing to Europe on the Olympic in the summer before he entered college and that they were secretly engaged for some time.

He will enter the banking business upon his return from Hot Springs, he said, and will study finance in Europe for a year or more. What salary he will draw he does not know, but his father's wedding gift, he said, had been a substantial increase in his allowance and the new apartment house

Charles Seng, 25 years old, of 5434 North Twenty-seventh street, East St. Louis, was taken to city hospital from the Market street entrance to the Municipal Courts Building at 6 p. m. yesterday suffering from stab wounds in the neck, hip and head.

He told police he had been attacked by two men without provocation and believed he had been mistaken for someone else. The men were young, he said, and both wore tan coats.

MAN DEAD FROM GAS, HIS WIFE OVERCOME

Police Report Indicates That the Couple Had Planned Suicide.

In a gas-filled bedroom at a rooming house at 1917 Hickory street, at noon today, police found the body of Charles Byron Sparrow, and the unconscious form of his wife, Ruth. They were lying on a bed, in sleeping garments, and had been overcome by fumes from an open jar of a gas range.

The police theory is that the couple turned on the gas, planning suicide. The doors to their apartment were locked from the inside and the windows and transoms shut tight. Two canaries in a cage had been killed by the fumes.

The woman who conducts the rooming house said she saw the couple last at 5 p. m. yesterday, when they went to their room. She heard nothing more of them until noon today, when she smelled gas and called the police. She did not know how long they had roomed there, as she took charge of the house but a few days ago. Sparrow was employed by the Columbia Terminals Co. He was about 40 years old and his wife is about the same age. At the City Hospital it was said the wife's condition was critical.

"Specialists" Get Man's $1795.

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill., Nov. 19.—H. M. Booksey, 63, of Johnson City, today asked local police to search for three "eye specialists" who swindled him of $1795 on a promise to cure an affliction of his wife. Several weeks ago he related, the first "specialist" called on him and promised to give radium treatments for $795, which he paid. His wife was suffering from an abscess on one eye, he was told. A few weeks later, he said, two other "eye specialists" advised him the first had been killed in an automobile accident, but that they would complete the treatment for $1000. Upon payment they performed a minor operation, he said.

ALFONSO, A SPOILED CHILD, SHOWS SPEED ON PLEASURE HIGHWAY

After suffering by the Spanish troops in Africa was still fresh in the minds of all Alfonso's subjects. This particular calamity quite surpassed anything of like nature recorded in the entire annals of our colonial wars. Only the defeat of the Italian General Baratieri in Abyssinia can be compared with it. Fifteen hundred Spaniards were taken prisoners by the Moroccans, a fate compared with which death is a happy release. It was in the midst of the national distress and humiliation occasioned by this event that Alfonso took his little holiday in Deauville. If at that time he was still considered a "likeable," a "charming" young man, it was chiefly by the ladies with painted cheeks and elaborate make-up who formed his admiring cortege.

Whether Alfonso can have had any conception of the frivolity of his conduct at the time I seriously question. The way he behaved on this occasion of national mourning is quite in keeping with his general frivolity. Foreign comment on this episode was generally unfavorable, and the topical songs the affair inspired in Montmartre were such as to necessitate the intervention of the Spanish Ambassador in Paris.

Alfonso, however, enjoyed his visit to M. Cornuchet and planned to pay him another at Cannes the following year. The pretext for this proposed trip to France was to visit the detested Italian Bourbons or the Dukes of Caserta, who live in retirement at Cannes, where M. Cornuchet had another Casino. The latter at once began his preparations designed to provide the royal visitor with every comfort and luxury. Of course the presence of the Spanish monarch at the gaming tables of the Cannes Casino would allow this resort to compete even with Monte Carlo.

But in Spain there was a distinctly unfavorable reaction when the King's plans were announced, the upper classes expressing their disapproval far more forcibly than even the masses, for whom Cannes and Deauville were mere names. In the Chamber of Deputies the Opposition made such allusions to the plans of Alfonso and M. Cornuchet that his majesty had to give up his prospective visit.

Perhaps he too complained, like his grandmother, the sentimental Isabella II, when, in her old age her last secretary was torn from her.

"What a horrid task it is to be royalty! There's always somebody interfering with your pleasure!"

MOVEMENT ON TO ELIMINATE McADOO AND SMITH

Government to permit of any long-continued hiatus in the functioning of the national Democratic organization.

There is a general belief that John W. Davis, while he will pay more attention to politics than he has in the past, will not be a candidate for another nomination. Similarly it is anticipated that Clem Shaver's interest will wane and that his resignation as national chairman is to be looked for in the comparatively near future.

Consequently the eyes of the men who are undertaking the getting-together are shifting around for a Democrat of national reputation, whose affiliations with the two factions of the party are not conspicuous, to succeed Shaver.

and Woman Deny Getting $7000 Worth of Goods Lost
by Company in Year.

Investigation of an anonymous letter received recently by Chief Detective Hosland, in which the letter stated that a driver for the American Railway Express Co. was making frequent deliveries of packages to 1305 Chestnut street.
Resulting in the arrest yesterday of a man and a woman who have admitted confessing to the thefts.
In the last year of approximately $1000 in women's wearing apparel from the express company.
Detectives were informed by officials of the express company that the shipments amount to approximately $7000. The two persons under arrest being implicated in theft of articles valued at this amount.

William Duol, 30, of 1519 South
Seventh street, a driver for the express company, the two persons arrested yesterday, were released on bond today, following the issuance of warrants charging them with the possession of goods stolen from interstate shipment.

In her signed confession Mrs.
Duol admitted purchasing articles of women's wearing apparel from Duol for small sums and stated Duol also had given her several articles of clothing. Duol admitted the theft and sale of a fur coat and four dresses to Mrs.
Duol, but denied any further thefts. The fur coat and dresses have been recovered from persons who purchased them from Mrs.
Duol.

The fur coat has been identified as part of a shipment by American Express from a local woman's apparel shop.

INDICATIONS THAT 10-CENT BUS FARE YIELDS BIG PROFIT

C. E. Smith, Consulting Engineer for City, Urges Enactment of Rigid Regulation Ordinance.

WOULD PREVENT FINANCIAL JUGGLERY

Cites Street Car Situation of Quarter of Century Ago Which Led to Watering of Stock.

There is every indication that the 10-cent bus fare allowed by the present city ordinance yields large profits. C. E. Smith, consulting engineer for the city, declared to the Public Utilities Committee of the Board of Aldermen yesterday, in support of the proposed rigid bus-regulation ordinance. He compared this with the street car situation here a quarter of a century ago, when the 5-cent fare permitted big profits and the watering of stock, which led to eventual receivership, in which the trolley system still is held. While the street car company struggled against its increasing financial burden, he pointed out, facilities were not increased, stockholders got nothing, and, for lack of proper franchise provisions, the city could not regulate service.

"Then the Busses Came."

"And then," said Smith, "the busses came and history promises to repeat itself. Just like 25 years ago, there is great rejoicing among those who profit most from them, particularly in districts previously served inadequately or not at all. The present bus ordinance does not safeguard the city's interests, as well as the street railways franchises do, especially when regulation of service and rates of the latter are taken into consideration."

There is no question, Smith asserted, but that the supposed profits from the 10-cent bus fare will lead to issuance of stocks, and possibly bonds, "to as great an extent as the profits will support, and far above the value of the property."

"This," he continued, "is indicated by the information that was given out in the newspapers when the stockholders of the People's Motor Bus Co. agreed to sell out to the United Railways interest for the total amount of their investment, which was not made known, and in addition, as profit, $1,400,000 in cash and the first $400,000 of net profits from the busses, a total of $1,800,000. If that much profit was demanded and agreed to when only about 50 busses were in operation, what would the amount be today when about 100 busses are in operation, and in the future, when more are operated?"

Source of Profits.
"Is there any doubt as to where this huge amount of money would come from? None whatever. I would come from the only source of revenue, the car and bus rider, principally the poorer classes who do not ride in their own automobiles, and thus increase the profits of their transportation. The promoters would pocket this profit and get out of the business, as in the past."

"This financial jugglery is just as certain a result in inadequate service as in the case of the street car lines. But as to the busses the city has not even the same measure of control by the present ordinance as the State Public Service Commission has over the street railway company. A proper measure of control of the busses should be established by ordinance, that will prevent a repetition of the street railway troubles, under which this city has struggled. This can be done without depriving any section of the city of needed bus service and without denying to the bus company the legitimate, and in fact generous, profits to which it is entitled."

Urges Better Control.

"Lindenwood and other sections that have not had service are certainly entitled to the bus service they are enjoying after their laborious uphill fight for years, and nothing should be done that will deprive them of that needed service. I personally pledge myself that as long as I serve the city I will do all in my power to assure the continuance of that service. But I am sure that the service can be retained by the city exercising Continued on Next Page.

a better measure of control than in the present ordinance, and assuring that the service will not retrograde in future, due to financial troubles, and that the people will not be called upon to pay twice what the service is worth.

"Under the present ordinance the company may increase or decrease the amount of its service at will (already buses are carrying standing passengers), may stop short of the end of any line, may suspend any line entirely, may operate on any kind of a schedule, while paying less than its share of wear and tear on pavement; in fact, it may choose its own method of operation to reap the greatest profits. The city should enact the necessary legislation to adequately safeguard its interests, without depriving the people of necessary bus service."

Engineer Smith referred to a recent report of the New York City Board of Transportation, which, he said, showed that thoroughly sound companies there are ready to furnish bus transportation at low rates of fare and exchange transfers with street cars.

"The People's Motor Bus Co.
(with extensive lines) and the St.
Louis Bus Co. (with one line started by the United Railways reorganizers) are now operating under the present ordinance," said Smith. "There is no thought of stopping any of their lines or operations, and no legislation should be passed that will deprive the city of any needed bus service. I do not believe the proposed ordinance will have that result."

"It will be well for this committee to keep in mind that the United Railways Co. has announced it will seek a new franchise just as soon as its reorganization plans are complete. In that franchise the city will find it necessary to provide for bus service to supplement street car service and this should be kept in mind in the consideration of this proposed ordinance, as street car service and bus service will have to be equally safeguarded in that ordinance, and corresponding safeguards should be applied to any bus service rendered by others."

Alderman Nangle demanded of Smith at the committee hearing how bus and trolley transfers could be interchanged under separate ownership. The engineer replied it had been done in other cities. Nangle asked if the ordinance wasn't an attempt to put the People's Motor Bus Co. out of business, which Smith denied. Nangle asked if the buses should not be regulated by the Public Service Commission. Smith answered that the commission had ruled buses were not public utilities.

Bus company representatives will be heard by the committee next Wednesday.

Frisco to Eliminate Another Suburban Train.

Another suburban train is to be eliminated by the Frisco Railway, beginning next Sunday, because of competition of buses running to Lindenwood, Webster Groves,
Kirkwood and intervening regions and because of the growing use of private automobiles. Train No. 15, the Cuba accommodation, which now leaves at 4 p. m. daily and makes all suburban stops, hereafter will leave at 5:25 p. m., eliminating a Valley Park train at that time. Recently the Frisco took off a number of other local trains and the Missouri Pacific also curtailed its suburban service.

The New, Easy Way to Have Beautiful Waxed Floors and Linoleum

THE new, easy way to wax floors and linoleum is with Johnson's Liquid Wax, applied with a Johnson
Wax Mop and polished with a Johnson Weighted Brush. This new method means that every one can now have beautiful waxed floors with very little effort
—just a few minutes' time—and without stooping.

JOHNSON'S LIQUID WAX

Your linoleum will look more beautiful—clean much easier—and last years longer if you polish it occasionally with Johnson's Liquid Wax.
It brings out the pattern and color imparts a beautiful, dry, dirt-repellent surface which washes off like a piece of glass. Johnson's Liquid Wax is recommended by all the leading manufacturers of linoleum.

Waxed floors, besides being most beautiful and distinctive, have many practical advantages. They are, by far, the most economical—they do not show heel prints—are not slippery—and traffic spots can be easily rewaxed without going over the entire floor. Johnson's Liquid Wax is a complete finish and polish for floors of all kinds—wood, linoleum, rubber, tile, marble, etc.

Pope Benedict Quoted as Having Said German Emperor Was Willing to Make Peace.

PONTIFF DESIRED
PART IN CONFERENCE

Correspondent's Interview
at Vatican Given in Book; Story of Plan to Divide Russia.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Pope Benedict XV desired to attend the Peace Conference and join the statesmen in formulating the peace treaties of the World War. The late Pope expressed this desire to Herman Bernstein, journalist and author, in an audience granted to Bernstein on Aug. 21, 1915, one month following the Pontiff's historic appeal for peace addressed to the belligerent nations.

The interview is made public in "Celebrities of Our Times," a collection of 31 interviews with world-famous personalities, secured by Bernstein while foreign correspondent for the New York Times, Sun, Herald and American. The book is published by Joseph Lawren, 230 West Forty-second street, New York.

The audience with the Pope lasted for one hour and 15 minutes, and following the audience Cardinal Gasparri, then papal secretary of state, made it clear that the Pope had no intention of going to the peace conference to restore the temporal power of the Vatican. No issue of Temporal Power.

"It should be clearly understood in the United States and elsewhere," Cardinal Gasparri told Bernstein, "that there is no truth at all in any reports that the Pope wishes to go to the peace congress to restore temporal power. His holiness declares solemnly that, if he should go to the congress, nobody will raise the question of temporal power. If he were not to go there, there would be at least two belligerent nations, one of them Germany, who will ask for the restoration of that power."

When Bernstein indicated to the Pope that, if he were to attend the peace conference, representatives of other great religious denominations—Protestant, Jewish, Mohammedan—might also desire to be present, the Pope answered, according to Bernstein, that such an eventuality would be perfectly satisfactory to him, and since European statesmen had made so many mistakes, they might find the counsel and co-operation of religious leaders of real value in restoring the world's equilibrium.

The Kaiser's Terms in 1915.
The Pope revealed to Bernstein that as early as August, 1915, one year after the outbreak of the war, the Kaiser was ready to propose peace to France. The four terms upon which Germany was ready to end the war, the Pope told Bernstein, were as follows:

1. The evacuation of Belgium and France.
2. The reconstruction of Poland as an independent state.
3. The cession of Alsace-Lorraine in exchange for a French colony.
4. The internationalization of Constantinople.

Cardinal Gasparri expressed the belief to Bernstein that Germany would not insist upon the colony.

At the conclusion of the audience Cardinal Gasparri gave Bernstein an autographed copy of the Pope's peace letter for transmission to President Wilson, to whom it was dedicated.

Leon Trotsky told Bernstein in an interview in March, 1918, that the allies knew of the existence of an understanding between Germany and Japan regarding the division of Russia.

"Germany wants a part of European Russia and Japan wants a part of Siberia," Trotsky said. "The allies know of this understanding between Germany and Japan, but they close their eyes to it, fearing lest the secret agreement may become an open agreement."

Republicans Win in Ireland.
By the Associated Press.
DUBLIN, Nov. 20.—By-elections to the Dail Eireann in South Dublin City and North Mayo have resulted in the return of Republicans by substantial, although not overwhelming majorities. This is regarded in some quarters as a serious setback to the Government, but the results were apparently largely due to the apathy of the electors, less than 50 per cent in Dublin voting.

Why Keep On Paying This Tax?

Everybody expects to pay some taxes, but why impose unnecessary taxes on yourself?

Do you realize that every time you drive your car on an unpaved highway you are actually taxing yourself one to four cents a mile?

This is the cost of increased repair, tire and gasoline bills.

Highway research has definitely established these facts.

Each year you tax yourself in this way a good many dollars.

Instead of spending this money for increased transportation costs, why not invest it in Concrete Highways and pay yourself some dividends?

Concrete Roads and Streets pay for themselves in the saving they effect on the cost of motoring.

Their maintenance cost is so low that this saving alone returns good dividends on the investment, year after year.

You are imposing an unnecessary tax on yourself from which you get no return, by failing to work for more Concrete Highways.

Not in a long time have general conditions been so favorable for carrying on such public works as permanent highway building.

Your highway authorities are ready to carry on their share of this great public work. But they must have your support.

Tell them you are ready to invest in more Concrete Highways, now.

DYING WORDS OF ATHEIST HELD INADMISSIBLE AS EVIDENCE

New York Judge Bases Ban on Statement of Murder Victim on a Precedent Set in 1857.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The dying words of an atheist or an unbeliever, are inadmissible as evidence in court in New Jersey.

On the strength of a precedent established in 1857, Judge Porter in the Essex County Court of Oyer and Terminer yesterday refused to admit the testimony of Detective Sergeant Carballly of Newark concerning a conversation he had with Thomas R. Loan while Loan was being taken to a hospital after being shot.

"I asked Loan if he wanted a priest or a minister," Carballly said on the stand. "He said he was an atheist and did not want any religious assistance."

Assistant Prosecutor Wachenfeld objected to the conversation with Loan as evidence, citing a court's refusal in 1857 to admit similar testimony.

The case on trial was that of Philip Falcatano, otherwise "Phil" Lewis, pugilist, and his brother, Anthony, charged with murdering Loan at their home Aug. 23. They were convicted of murder in the second degree.

ALIBI WITNESSES TESTIFY FOR BANK ROBBERY DEFENDANTS

Two of Three Men on Trial in Edwardsville Say They Were in Jail at Time of Holdup.

Alibi witnesses were offered yesterday in defense of the three men charged with participating in the robbery of the First National Bank of Highland, Ill., on July 29 last, on trial in the Madison County Circuit Court at Edwardsville.

Two of the men, Lester Barth of St. Louis and Tony Bovona of New York, testified that they were in jail at the time the robbery was committed. Deputy Sheriffs from Carlinville, Ill., and Sedalia, Mo., where the men said they were lodged, testified to this fact. It was said by the State that Bovona had admitted being in the holdup to Sheriff Deimling of Madison County, but had later entered a plea of not guilty. Witnesses for Henry Ronsek of St. Louis County, the third defendant, stated that they had seen him in Florissant, Mo., on the day of the robbery.

The case is expected to go to the jury this afternoon. Earl Mahan, cashier, and Miss Florence Hoeft, bookkeeper for the bank, are the State's chief witnesses. Miss Hoeft was positive in her identification of Ronsek as one of the robbers.

CAMPAIGN PLANNED TO AID WORLD WAR ORPHANS IN U. S.

Committee Announces First Public Appeal for Funds Will Be Started Dec. 12.

In the first public appeal that has been made in behalf of the World War orphans of the United States, the Children of America Loyalty League, at its headquarters here, today announced plans for a national campaign Dec. 12, 13, 14 for raising funds to establish Children of America patriotic home-schools throughout the country.

Estimating a total expense of $244,558 to feed, clothe, house and educate 500 children for one year, the league leaders predicted success for their plans to care for 1000 of the 6000 orphans reported to be in dire need.

Officers of the organization are: Mrs. Nat S. Brown, president; John M. Atkinson, vice president; Edward F. Gollins, treasurer; Mrs. Charles D. Potts, secretary, and Eva M. Kennedy, assistant secretary. They have received endorsements from President Coolidge and others.

ADVERTISMENT Night Coughing—How to Stop It

Night coughing which, through loss of valuable sleep, often makes you feel utterly worn-out and useless during the day, and by quickly weakening the system lays you open to the most dangerous infections, can now be promptly checked by a very simple treatment. People who have hardly been able to rest on account of coughing spells have found that they can sleep the whole night through undisturbed after the very first trial.

The treatment is based on a remarkable prescription known as Dr. King's New Discovery. You simply take a teaspoonful at night before retiring and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing it. The prescription has a double action. It not only soothes and heals the soreness and irritation, but it quickly loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which is the real cause of the cough. The result is that you usually sleep as soundly as a babe the very first night, and the cough goes in a very short time.

The prescription contains no opiates or harmful drugs. Excellent for children as well as grown-ups. For coughs, chest colds, hoarseness, sore throat, spasmodic croup, bronchitis, laryngitis and bronchial asthma. At all good druggists. Ask for CCROSSING the two great oceans, flying over desert, city and mountain range; covering crowded continents and deserted wastelands; from the torrid zone to ice-bound Greenland—a summer of danger, discovery, exploration and adventure. This great story of the world flyers has been secured by the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. It is written by Lowell Thomas, intimate friend of the flyers, who is also an adventurer and a flyer, as well as an author.

The personal, day-by-day records of Lieuts. Smith, Nelson and Wade;
Problems of flying in China and India;
The dangers of the Aleutians in the Northern Pacific;

Receptions in Europe;

The long flight over ice and open sea to Greenland;

The anxious moments waiting for Major Martin, who smashed into a mountain;
Wade's disastrous fall in the icy Atlantic;

The impatient delay in Iceland;

And then Tickle Harbor, and the American continent, and home.

Lowell Thomas has written a craftsmanlike story of the experiences of the flyers in the first circumnavigation by air. There are innumerable facts of interest which hitherto have never been mentioned. And there is the authentic record of the flight.

C. P. & ST. L. RY. SOLD FOR $3,559,500

No Bid for Road as a Whole and It is Disposed of in Parcels.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
 SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 20.—The Chicago, Peoria & St. Louis Railroad was sold here today in parcels. There was no bid for the road as a whole and no bid for the line when offered in three groups.

A large portion of it was purchased by the Equitable Trust Co. of New York, trustees for the bondholders. Other sections went to a Charles Jackson, James Duncan of Alton and to Attorneys William Patton and Walter McClelland. Allen of Springfield, bidding for persons whose names were not announced. The parcels brought a total of $3,559,500.

The section running from East St. Louis to Chicago and Wood River was sold to Duncan for $1,350,000. Master in Chancery Briggie, in opening the sale, spoke briefly of the litigation of several years. The sale was held in the corridor of the courthouse and several hundred patrons of the line interested in its fate were present. Others stood outside.

Parcel 12, consisting of the ownership of 888 pieces of rolling stock of the road on which the Bankers Trust Co. of New York holds mortgages, was first offered for sale. Walter McClelland Allen offered $300,000, the minimum figure set by the court. He got the rolling stock. Parcel 12A was next offered. This consists of real estate holdings in Havana, Jacksonville, Springfield and Madison.

Allen again bid $20,000, the minimum figure set by the court, and as there was no other offer, the bid was accepted. The road was offered for sale in three groups. The line from Springfield to Peoria was first put on the auction block. On a call for bids there was no answer and this group was passed. That section from Springfield to St. Louis was then offered, without a bid, and again on the third group, that part from Havana to Jacksonville, no bid was made. The road was then offered as a whole, but there was no bid.

The master, taking up the road by parcel, called for bids on Section No. 1—running from Pekin 2.99 miles south, together with some real estate in Tazewell County—and the first bid was $50,000 or the minimum, by a man named Boedner, who did not say whom he represented. Simon Borge, attorney for the New York bondholders, jumped the price $1000. It went in $1000 jumps to $75,000, when it was knocked off to Borge. Parcel 2—nine miles just north of Manito—went to Charles Jackson for $50,000.

Other Sections Sold.
 Parcel 3—Manito to Havana, a distance of 19.08 miles—went to George North for $90,000, the minimum bid.

Parcel 4, representing the line between Havana and Jacksonville, with real estate in Mason, Cass and Morgan Counties, went to W. L. Patton of Springfield for $200,000.

Parcel 5, between Independence avenue and State street in Jacksonville, sold to Simon Borge for the bondholders for $75,000.

Parcel 6, representing 23.42 miles between Havana and Petersburg, sold to Charles Jackson for $115,000.

Parcel 7, from Petersburg to Eighteenth and Madison streets, in Springfield, a distance of 22.55 miles, sold to the bondholders for $250,000.

Parcel 7, consisting of real estate owned by the road in Springfield, went to the bondholders at $25,000.

Parcel 9, consisting of 20 miles from Waverly to Haganman, sold to Charles Jackson for $100,000.

Parcel 10, from Haganman to a mile north of Lock Haven, a distance of 35.09 miles, brought $175,000. George North purchased it. Grafton to East St. Louis.

Parcel 11, running from Grafton to East St. Louis, 37.91 miles, brought $1,350,000. The bidding for this section, which handles freight for the Standard Oil at Wood River and the powder plant at Grafton, started at $750,000 and was carried to $1,350,000 before it was sold to the Litchfield and Madison Railroad, of which James Duncan of Alton is president.

Parcel No. 13, consisting of rolling stock, went to Allen for $250,000. Allen also bought No. 14, consisting of rolling stock, for $70,000.

Riverside Park at Havana, listed as Parcel 15, went to the bondholders for $2500.

Duncan is President of the Litchfield & Madison.
 James Duncan, one of the purchasers, is president of the Litchfield & Madison Railroad at Alton, and also receiver for the St. Louis Coke and Iron Co.

ICE LATE PSUEDO STRATEGY BOARDS' HARMFUL TO FOOTBALL, ROCKNE WRITES

Savage's Men Smash Frosh For Long Gains

Eleven Uses Ghost Ball in Hard Work Preparing for Centenary Contest.

OPPONENTS ARE HEAVY

"Bo" McMillan's Eleven Said to Average 210 Pounds—Have a 260-Pound End.

The St. Louis University Bulldogs showed last night in a grueling scrimmage lacking more than an hour, that the powerful Centenary College team, victors over Boston College, will have a big job on their hands to defeat the Grand boulevard huskies when the two machines collide on Thanksgiving Day.

Without the services of their star fullback, Frank Ramonaccio, the Savage-coached clan smashed the freshmen and broke loose for long runs on an average of three out of four bucks, all straight football. The backs and the line men co-ordinated beautifully in opening the hole and getting through during the short time it remains clear.

The scrimmage was altogether on offense and will be continued up to Friday. Last night the ghost ball was once more brought into action and many precious minutes of dusk utilized in hard work.

Tapering Off in Work. Coach Savage plans to ease up on his men next week and indulge in dummy scrimmage, of which a great deal will be spent in perfecting a defense against forward passes.

Unless something happens, the Bulldogs will put their best team in the field against "Bo" McMillan's outfit. The players are at the peak of their physical condition and will be capable of absorbing much of the punishment which the Southern Gentlemen, with their 210 average, are reputed to put out. Incidentally, if Tom Stanton is paired off with the 260-pound Cal Hubbard, there is going to be a fight worth seeing. Stanton weighs 190 pounds, and due to great measure to Assistant Coach Brown's scientific instructions as to the proper use of weight, is adept in utilizing his powers with great success.

McKenzie Runs Signals. Halfback McCarthy is the only regular who is certain to miss the Centenary struggle. McKenzie is not scrimmaging these nights but runs off signals and will play Thanksgiving. Jim Clark, a guard, has a pulled muscle in one leg but this will not prevent his appearance against the gentlemen.

The Athletic Board announced yesterday, the first day reserved seat tickets were put on sale, that the demand was heavy and that there is every indication of a complete sell out of the choice seats before game time. McMillan's heavy boys are proving a good drawing card, said H. J. McMahon, president of the board, and the splendid showing of the Bulldogs all season in putting the game on a big basis.

So far, two officials have been selected for the big clash. Lipsey of Chicago has been chosen referee and Jim Gould of West Point will serve as head linesman.

Joe Stecher Winner. By the Associated Press. The first fall went to Miyake in 23 minutes, jiu jitsu style, the second and third going to Stecher, catch-as-catch-can, in 24 minutes and eight minutes, respectively.

Their Reactions Usually Emotional and Judgments Superficial, Coach Finds

Dame Director Warns Authorities Not to Fire Coaches Hastily—"Second Guessers" Are the Worst Pests of All.

By Knute Rockne,

Coach Notre Dame University Football Team.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 19.—This is the time of the year when pseudo-strategy boards are hiring and firing the football coaches. In the early part of the fall, these tacticians confine their efforts to suggesting plays and telling on Sunday what should have been done Saturday. The average college coach is an expert in his line, and his job should not be constantly endangered by outsiders whose judgments are superficial, who act on whims, and whose mental reactions regarding football are mostly emotional.

Chicago Has Title Saved Up. Chicago appears to have the Big Ten title tied up and need not expect much opposition from Wisconsin. The defeat of Illinois was totally unexpected. Zuppke brought his team along fast for Nebraska and Michigan and it is impossible to keep a team at top form for six or seven weeks. Minnesota began slowly but is now at its best.

Grange the "Greatest Back." The injury to Grange, something that is liable to happen to anyone in football, is a hard blow to Illinois. Grange, though, has done enough in one season to satisfy anyone. He is the greatest back of a decade.

Dawson of Nebraska was told at the trick for him to use was to have his entire team on offense, charge but drop back 10 yards, he was told, would throw the offense into confusion, and it would be a simple matter for the team with the ball to run for a touchdown.

So Easy the Day After. These play suggesters are fun. But the other pest, the second guesser, is not funny. He is very glib. He is the chap who wants to play Saturday's stock market on Sunday, while the poor coach must wait till Saturday, and rise or fall accordingly.

Most of the second guessing is talk, and is to be taken as such. However, a lot of capable lawyers, business men and others take their football very seriously, and it is these who are doing all the coaching changes.

I would suggest that those who are in the constituted authority, analyze and well before making any changes. There are numerous conditions over which a football coach has no control, which he cannot control, but which have direct bearing on the success or failure of a team. These should be weighed carefully and fairly.

KANSAS FAVORS PLAYING GAME WITH MISSOURI BEFORE THANKSGIVING

By the Associated Press. LAWRENCE, Kan., Nov. 20.—The Athletic Board of the University of Kansas at a meeting yesterday night went on record in favor of holding the annual Missouri-Kansas football game on the Saturday preceding Thanksgiving day. The board recommended that the change be made next year.

This was a reaffirmation of the position taken by Kansas officials last year against playing the game on Thanksgiving day.

"Students owe it to their parents to spend Thanksgiving day at home and members of the football teams would have the same privilege," said C. Allen, director of athletics, who expressed the hope that the University of Missouri officials would agree to the plan.

BASKETBALL RULE IS CHANGED BY EASTERN COLLEGIATE LEAGUE

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball League, which will open its season Jan. 3, has changed the zoning rule which inflicts different penalties on fouls committed within certain areas. One shot from the foul line will be permitted on all fouls committed except on a player in the act of shooting at the basket. In cases where a player shooting is fouled, two shots will be allowed.

Hoff To Compete in Millrose A. A. Meet

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—CHARLES HOFF, noted Norwegian athlete and world's record pole vaulter, who plans an invasion of the United States during the indoor season, will appear in New York under the auspices of the Millrose A. A. at its two-day track and field carnival in January at Madison Square Garden.

Hoff plans to come here soon and train at Dartmouth University under the direction of Harry Hillman, track coach.

Individual Honors Involved in Games In the Big Ten

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—More championship hopes, individual records and personal trophies are involved in this week's Western Conference finale than at any other time during the season.

The best chance in the conference to take the title is Chicago's incentive to herculean practice efforts this week. A victory over Wisconsin, for whom Coach Stagg is grooming a powerful aggregation of substitutes to augment his varsity, means undisputed possession of the crown for the Maroons.

Notre Dame hopes to add another notch in its climb to a claim on a national championship by a victory over Northwestern. The game is the swan song of Capt. Bob Weinecke of the Purple and his mates are desirous of tendering him a farewell by holding Coach Rockne's fearsome "four horsemen"—Layden, Stuhldreher, Crowley and Miller.

Other Title Contenders. Michigan and Iowa have a chance at the title involved in their meeting at Ann Arbor. A victory for either, coupled to a Chicago defeat by Wisconsin, would mean championship consideration.

The Wolverines have completed their defense and work has started on the attack, in which forward passes so far have been stressed. Iowa's fear of an aerial attack is confining Hawkeye preparations to means of combating a passing game.

Tod Rockwell, Michigan's quarter, has an opportunity to end his conference football career as the leading point scorer, since Harold "Red" Grange of the Illini, who leads him by one point, is out for the season with an injured shoulder. Rockwell has 77 points to his credit.

The record of Harry Thomas, Chicago halfback, of never having participated in a conference game in which his team was defeated, is also at stake. Thomas was one of the two conference games Chicago lost in the three years he has been with the team.

Illini Plays Ohio State. A green turtle with a shell two feet in diameter is the trophy in the Illinois-Ohio State game. Junior honor societies of both schools have arranged the prize in emulation of the Michigan-Minnesota "Little Brown Jug." The turtle goes with Ohio State if it leaves Iowa for Urbana. In addition, Illinois has some little hopes, although defeated last week by Minnesota, its application being contingent on an Illini victory and defeats for other contenders.

Premier honors in the Hoosier section of the Western Conference inspire Indiana and Purdue to strenuous preparation for their tilt at Lafayette. Indiana's victory over Ohio State gives it the edge, but the Bollermakers have a victory over Northwestern and a good showing against Chicago to their credit.

Minnesota has the football honor of the North in its hands, as it rooms for Vanderbilt of Nashville, Tenn.

67 Entries for Race. LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 20.—The 250-mile Thanksgiving day Ascot Motor Cup race has drawn 67 entrants to date. Harlan Fenger, "Boy Wonder" auto racing driver, who was injured last May while practicing for the Indianapolis speedway classic, has been advised by physicians to withdraw his entry from the Ascot list.

Rockne Explains Why HE OPENS MANY GAMES WITH HIS SUBSTITUTES

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—Why Coach Rockne of Notre Dame frequently opens an important game with a substitute lineup has been explained. The ambitious substitutes fairly force him to it, he says.

"Those youngsters are rough and ready kids who sit on the bench all the afternoon and drive me crazy," the Notre Dame mentor explains. "Every time some opposing back plunges for five or 10 yards through the Notre Dame line you'll see them jump up and wave their hands. 'Let me in there.' Those fellows wouldn't get through if I was in the game." I thought if these fellows wanted action I'd give it to them. I gave them instructions to get in there and make it tough for the opposition during the first quarter. And believe me, they did. They wore Army and Princeton down and ruined Georgia Tech's line in the first 15 minutes of play."

Harvard Plans Rushing Attack In Big Three Final With Yale

Crimson Also Will Employ Forward Passes in Effort to Stop Bulldogs—Eight Rutgers Stars Will Play Last College Games Saturday.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The final Eastern football jousts in a season teeming with fervor will be fought on frozen fields Saturday where shivering thousands will offer their last opposition to the advance of winter.

Crippled Harvard will hobble into the Yale Bowl bent upon kicking the fight out of the Bulldogs and the kick will come into prominence when the contest starts.

The Cambridge plan appears to be a rushing attack in hope of rout, employment of the forward pass and then, if fate intervenes, a punting game which will keep the Blue away from the posts.

Yale also will turn to the forward pass, which accomplished the feat of Princeton, and Scott, a clever kicker, will be ready to kick from any point within the Crimson territory. Yale could outshoot Harvard and also outkick her.

Yale Will Have Full Team. Yale, boasting its full strength, will have everything to lose and only expected victory to gain. Harvard will be fighting for football life, the system of Haughton and Fisher, and to erase the ignominy of defeat at the hands of smaller institutions.

At Philadelphia eight men of the Rutgers eleven will appear in their last college games. The backfield will lose Benkert and Hazel and the line will lose Gibson, Fuchs, Captain Brennan, Lincoln, Bender and Klernan. Hazel's appearance is by no means a certainty, as he Colgate Meets Syracuse. Colgate and Syracuse meet on the latter's field for the twenty-sixth time. The Hamilton eleven has won 14 contests, Syracuse nine, and two have been ties. From 1917 to 1922 Syracuse was supreme, but in 1923 an undefeated Orange team went down before the invaders, 16 to 7. This season Syracuse again is the favorite. More than 31,000 persons are expected to attend this battle.

Lafayette and Lehigh, at Easton, will play their fifty-eighth game. From 1884 to 1901 the Keystone State eleven met twice each season, and in 1901 met three times. Lafayette has won 23 contests, Lehigh 23, and two have been ties. For five years Lafayette has won and Lehigh, with a team that has upset and tied leading eleven teams, expects to break that string of victories Saturday.

Jack Britton Beaten. By the Associated Press. OAKLAND, Cal., Nov. 20.—Jim Duffy of Oakland won the decision over Jack Britton, former welterweight champion of the world, in a fast four-round bout here last night. Duffy floored Britton in the third but the former champion was up immediately.

Trap Shoot Star Dead. KANSAS CITY, Nov. 20.—E. C. (Chief) Wheeler of Pawhuska, Ok., nationally known amateur trap shooter, died at a hospital here early last night. He underwent an operation Sunday when his right arm was amputated. The arm was shattered last week when Wheeler's automobile turned over near Wellsville, Kan.

Both Mercer and Oglethorpe have played representative S. I. A. schedules, while Centre, a member of the organization, and boasting a powerful team, has played but one member of the S. I. A. Mercer and Oglethorpe fought out a terrific battle last season, Oglethorpe finally winning, 7 to 6. Thus there seems little to choose between the two in advance of the game, although Mercer stock has been decidedly on the incline since the Bears defeated the Florida Aligators, 10 to 0, in Macon last Friday.

Both Mercer and Oglethorpe have drawn with Loyola, the Petrels scoring 13 against the same figure for Loyola. The Bears' game at New Orleans was a scoreless affair. Oglethorpe defeated Wofford 27 to 0 and Mercer won from the same team, 16 to 0. Mercer's victory over Howard was by a score of 14 to 5, while Oglethorpe won from this team, 32 to 7. Mercer's record is marred by only two defeats, Syracuse winning from the Macon team, 26 to 0, and Georgia by a score of 28 to 7. Furman was defeated 23 to 0 and Chattanooga, 33 to 0.

FRENCH INSTITUTE ADOPTS OSIRIS PRIZE NOMINATIONS

Prof. Fabry, Physicist, and Jean Richepin, Poet, Had Been Recommended by Committee.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Nov. 28.—The French Institute, represented by its five academies, yesterday adopted its special committee's nominations of Prof. Charles Fabry, eminent physicist, of the Paris University, and Jean Richepin, poet, for the Osiris Prize. No grounds for the choice were given.

Prof. Fabry and Richepin will divide the Osiris prize, according to the ruling of the French Institute Committee, each receiving 100,000 francs (approximately $20,000). The triennial prize is given for the most remarkable discovery of work in science, literature, art or industry.

At the time the committee announced its award it was stated that Prof. Fabry was chosen as one of the recipients because he was considered the "perfecter" of the interferometer, an instrument which enables light interference to be used for the study of the stars. No specific achievement was mentioned in connection with the choice of Richepin, although it was accepted that, in his case, the award was given as recognition of his position in the literary world.

BRITAIN PLANS MORE CRUISERS

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Nov. 28.—One of the first acts of the Admiralty under the new Government will be to lay down a further number of cruisers, according to the Daily Mail. Recalling that the last Conservative Government decided to build eight and that the Labor Government laid down five of these, the paper says the balance, with further fresh replacements may be begun in the near future.

ELABORATE FUNERAL OFFERING

MRS. CROKER BACK

KANSAS CITY UNVEILS WAR MEMORIAL

The wax figure, which was clothed in flowers and a duplicate in face, figure and colors of Michael Merlo, at his own funeral in Chicago. Merlo was president of the Unione Siciliana, and his funeral, last week, was one of the greatest, in point of expense and pomp, which Chicago has ever seen.
—International Newsreel Photo.

ow of the Tammany chief,

after a few months' visit in Ireland.
—Keystone View Co.

Laying the corner stone of the Liberty Memorial at Kansas City on Armistice day. From a base more than a block and a half long and a half block wide, rises a central column, at the top of which will be a huge bowl, where perpetual fire will be kept alight in memory of those who lost their lives in the World War.

Edna Ferber

FORTY-SIX

"O H, I don't know. Time to dream. Time to—no, I suppose that isn't true any more. I suppose the day is past when the genius came from the farm. Machinery has cut into his dreams. He used to sit for hours on the wagon seat, the reins slack in his hands, while the horses plodded into town. Now he whizzes by in a jitney. Patent binders, plows, reapers—he's a mechanic. He hasn't time to dream. I guess if Lincoln had lived today he'd have split his rails to the tune of a humming, snarling patent wood cutter, and in the evening he'd have whirled into town to get his books at the public library, and he'd have read them under the glare of the electric light bulb instead of lying flat in front of the flickering wood fire. . . . Well. . . ."

She lay back, looked up at him. "Dirk, why don't you marry?"

"Why—there's no one I want to marry."

"No one who's free, you mean?"

He stood up. "I mean no one." He stooped and kissed her lightly. Her arms went round him close. Her hand with the thick gold wedding band on it pressed his head to her hard. "Sobig!" He was a baby again.

"You haven't called me that in years." He was laughing. She reverted to the old game they had played when he was a child. "How big is my son? How big?" She was smiling, but her eyes were somber.

"So big!" answered Dirk, and measured a very tiny space between thumb and forefinger. "So big." She faced him, sitting up very straight in bed, the little wool shawl hunched about her shoulders. "Dirk, are you ever going back to architecture? The war is history. It's now or never with you. Pretty soon it will be too late. Are you ever going back to architecture? To your profession?"

A clean amputation. "No Mother."

She gave an actual gasp, as though icy water had been thrown full in her face. She looked suddenly old, tired. Her shoulders sagged. He stood in the doorway, braced for her reproaches. But when she spoke it was to reproach herself. "Then I'm a failure."

"Oh, what nonsense. Mother, I'm happy. You can't live some body else's life. You used to tell me, when I was a kid I remember, that life wasn't just an adventure, to be taken as it came, with the hope that something glorious was always hidden just around the corner. You said you had lived that way and it hadn't worked. You said."

She interrupted him with a little cry. "I know I did. Now I know I didn't. Suddenly she raised a warning finger. Her eyes were luminous, prophetic. "Dirk, you can't desert her like that!"

"Desert who?" He was startled. "Beauty—self-expression. Why I ever you want to call it. You wait! She'll turn you some day. Some day you'll want her, and she won't be there."

Inwardly he had been resentful of this bedside conversation with his mother. She made little of him, he thought, while outsiders appreciated his success. He had said, "So big," measuring a tiny space between thumb and forefinger in answer to her half-playful question, but he had not honestly meant it. He thought her ridiculously old-fashioned now in her viewpoint, and certainly unreasonable. But he would not quarrel with her.

"You wait, too, Mother," he said now, smiling. "Some day your wayward son will be a real success. Wait till the millions roll in. Then we'll see."

She lay down, turned her back deliberately upon him, pulled the covers up about her.

"Shall I turn out your light, Mother, and open the windows?" "Mean!" she said. "She always does. Just call her. . . . Good-night."

He knew that he had come to be a rather big man in his world. Influence had helped. He knew that, too. But he shut his mind to much of Paula's maneuvering and wire pulling—refused to acknowledge that her lean, dark, eager fingers had manipulated the mechanism that ordered his career. Paula herself was wise enough to know that to hold him she must let him feel indebted to her. She knew that the debt he owed her was a debt of honor.

The World's Smallest Burglar

DRAWN BY NELL BRINKLEY

"W ARE of him. You may go years with your heart whole and your own, and all of a sudden one fine morning wake up with it gone as clean as the wish-sword that the Old Man of the Mountain guarded, and Boots, the least important of three brothers, ran away with."

Love is the least important of the burglar-brotherhood, in size-ability. He comes no higher than the famed bee-knees hardly, and his hair is baby-fine and as gold as new corn silk. He wears a mask, for you never know him when you first set eyes upon him.

He jimmies any door or window, hooks a leg over, or steps a leg in, with a glint arrow in his teeth, and it's all over.

"No good to warn you, though, for locked windows and doors are no more to him than your doors in a dream are to the thing that pursues you. Joining a bachelor-club doesn't help a bit."

So you might as well hand over your savings with the sweetest smile you own, and make up your mind that you have gone your last day single-minded and hearted, on earth.

—NELL BRINKLEY.

link their remarks in order to get them noticed at all. The word rot was replaced by garbage and garbage gave way to the ultimate swill. One no longer said "How shocking!" but "How perfectly obscene!" The words, spoken in their sweet clear voices, fell nonchalantly from their pretty lips. All very fearless and uninhibited and free. That, they told you, was the main thing. Sometimes Dirk wished they would not work so hard at their play. They were forever getting up pageants and plays and large festivals for charity; Venetian fetes, Oriental bazaars, charity balls. In the program performance of these many of them sang better, acted better, danced better than most professional performers, but the whole thing always lacked the flavor, somehow, of professional performance. On these affairs they lavished thousands in costumes and decorations, receiving in return other thousands which they soberly turned over to the Cause. They found nothing ludicrous in this. Spasmodically they went into business or semi-professional ventures, defying the conventions. Paula did this, too. She or one of her friends were forever opening blouse shops; starting Gift Shoppes; burgeoning into tea rooms decorated in crude green and vermilion and orange and black; announcing their affiliation with an advertising agency. These adventures blossomed, withered, died. They were the result of post-war restlessness. Many of these girls had worked indefatigably during the 1917-1918 period; had driven service cars, managed ambulances, nursed, scrubbed, conducted canteens. They missed the excitement, the satisfaction of achievement.

They found Dirk fair game, resented Paula's proprietorship. Susan and James and Kates and Betty and Sallys—plain old-fashioned names for modern, erotic misers—they talked to Dirk, danced with him, rode with him, flirted with him. His very unattainable-ness gave him piquancy. That Paula Storm had him fast. He did not care a hoot about girls.

"Oh, Mr. de Jong," they said. "Your name's Dirk, isn't it? What a sick name! What does it mean?" "Nothing," he said. "It's a Dutch name. My people—my father's people—were Dutch, you know."

"A Dirk's a sort of sword, isn't it, or pondard?"

Soupe Savoyarde.

Soupe Savoyarde is not a delicate one, but very delicious and nourishing at the same time. It is the main dish for the Savoyards; in fact, "supper" often consists solely of it.

Clean and chop finely celery, onions and leeks in equal proportions and in sufficient quantity for the guests. Add double the quantity of potatoes.

Mince enough bacon to make about one-fifth pound and put into a casserole over a slow fire, stirring from time to time. Add the vegetables and all but the potatoes, and draw the casserole to the edge, so they will take on a nice color.

When the vegetables are well cooked, add the potatoes and one quart of boiled milk, salt and pepper and let boil about 30 minutes until the potatoes can be mashed. Beat the soup well to crush them.

Prepare fresh buttered croutons and cover with grated Gruyere cheese. Brown in the oven. Put a pint of double cream in a soup tureen and pour over the soup. Mix well and serve with the croutons.

EGGLESS OATMEAL MUFFINS. Grind two cupfuls rolled oats in food chopper. To one-half the flour thus made add one teaspoonful salt, one tablespoonful sugar, one and one-half cupfuls milk and one teaspoonful melted shortening and beat with egg beater until the mixture is full of bubbles. Add the rest of the flour and five teaspoonful baking powder. Stand three or four minutes in muffin pans. Bake in hot oven for 20 minutes.

Here is something different. . . . Altus Combination Sandwich. Take slices of baked ham, cover them with Altus Sandwich Spread, lay a leaf of lettuce on top and serve between bread.

Altus Sandwich Spread may be served on bread or crackers, on meats, as a salad dressing—in any number of delicious ways.

Rule II. If you think he's clever or good-looking, tell him so. You don't think so—don't marry him!

Rule III. If he praises another woman, praise her yourself. If you honestly do, your tolerant general make a deeper impression than any of the temporary charmers.

Rule IV. When he talks about entertainers whom you detest, emulate B'r'r Rabb'l and say nuffin'. So often he just—

Rule VI. Admire his cooking, the way he squeaky door, his prowess with the his genius in ordering a dinner. Agree him is SO much easier than doing the job

Rule VII. Nag when necessary. A man's motto is "patience," and you can even make him wear rubbers if you're nacious. But don't nag about dead issues. Avoid post-mortem.

SAYINGS OF MRS. SOLOMON

By HELEN ROWLAND

SEVEN WAYS TO FOOL A WOMAN. BEHOLD, my Daughter, what man need break a woman with bitter truths? For, lo, there be seven ways to fool a woman, and every one is amateur-proof.

There is the way of the Shiek, who saith it with flower glances and subtle handclaps, but never with words! And though a damsel may suspect that the "flowers of his flattery" artificial, still doth she rejoice in their beauty.

And there is the way of the telephone liar, who promises THING, while he is in a damsel's presence, but retracteth all promises, with graceful "excuses," when he reacheth the phone booth.

And there is the way of the "cavemen," whose motto is "her nothing!" and who lieh boldly and without scruple, suiteth his pleasure, saying, "That which she doth not know, trouble her—nor ME."

And there is the way of the diplomat, who talketh in the strait and maketh love in vague HINTS and sweet insinuations, leaveth always a drawbridge over which to retreat.

And there is the way of the platonic friend, who doeth the and hearty, but whose "chumminess" is oftentimes but a camouflage and a smoke screen.

And there is the way of the Tired Business Man, who is all his fibbing and his alibis to his stenographer. For, with miles of wire and a brave stenographer between them, he fashions woman's wrath.

And there is likewise the way of the perfect Ananias, who always and artistically, and for the pure love of bluffing, would rather tell a graceful fib, even when the truth would serve his purpose.

Go it. It hath been said that there are but two brands of plain and fancy. But, of the Fancy Liars, there are fifty-seven brands, and all of them are standardized!

Why, then, should any man torment and afflict a woman the cold and brutal truth?

THICK LAMB STEW.

CUT four pounds of breast of lamb in medium sized pieces and roll them in flour. Put a layer in a kettle; over these place a thin layer of pared carrots cut in lengthwise slices and a sliced onion. On these put another layer of lamb rolled in flour, continuing until all has been used. Approximately three-fourths pound onions and one pound of carrots will furnish enough vegetables. Add a quart can of tomatoes, two and a half teaspoonfuls salt, one-third teaspoonful pepper, two teaspoonfuls sugar and enough boiling water to barely cover. Put on the lid and simmer gently for two hours or until the lamb is tender. When done the stew should be thick. It should be served on a platter with a border of cooked spaghetti, boiled rice or mashed potatoes, or, if desired, medium-sized whole potatoes may be added to the stew before it will be done and served with it.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

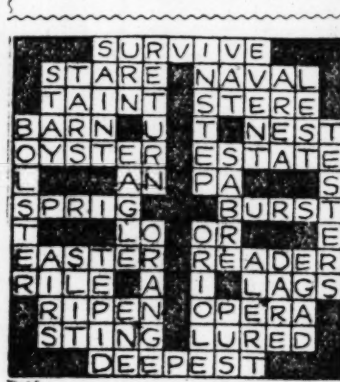

By Aline Michaelis

Enough.

NOT to the joys that are far away does my longing turn, not for the light of a distant day does my being yearn. Ever the farthest sunbeam lies with the brightest gold; fairer the peaks of the future rise than these dull days hold. Naught of tomorrow I ask today, though its promise glows lovely as light on the ocean's spray, touched with the sunset's rose. Leaving tomorrow's rainbow mist till tomorrow's dawn, waiting its pearl and amethyst till the night is gone, still down my pathway the whole day long gladly I go and content finding each hour my need of song, sunshine and shadow blent. Will-o'-the-wisp is the morrow's lure, bright though its gleam may be; joys that are mine for today are sure; this is enough for me! Days that are white with the dog-wood's bloom, bright with the summer's glow, autumn days with the smoke's gray plume, winter days that lie far away; but for myself I ask no more than the joys I have.

Old Man Coyote Plans for a Feast

A rogue spends half his time in dreaming; Instead of working, he is scheming.

—Old Mother Nature.

Day after day and night after night he watched from a distance with Old Man Coyote and Yowler the Bob Cat.

Of course Old Man Coyote knew what was going on. Little goes on that he doesn't know about. Day after day and night after night he watched from a distance. He knew that it was useless to try to catch those Beavers while they were cutting trees close to the water. "When they get those trees nearest the water cut, they have to go back from the water a distance," said Old Man Coyote to himself. "The thing for me to do is to wait until they have to do this."

So, though the sight of them made Old Man Coyote's mouth water, he patiently waited, all the time taking care that the Beavers should not see him. He knew that if he could catch one, the dinner he would have would be worth all his patience and waiting. He was on hand watching the night that Paddy and Mrs. Paddy cut the last aspen tree close to the water. He grinned when he saw it fall. Then he began to make his plans.

He carefully studied the land all around the trees that he felt sure Paddy and Mrs. Paddy would cut next. There was one growing a little aside by itself. It was just the size that he knew Paddy and Mrs. Paddy liked best. It was far enough from the water for him to have a very good chance of catching one of them if he could surprise them at work. He knew it wouldn't do to hide too close to that tree. They would be likely to smell him if they didn't see him. Off at one side was a thick clump of ferns, now yellow and withered. Old Man Coyote grinned. "If I lie down flat in those ferns they won't see me," thought he. "All I have to do now is to keep watch until they are ready to begin work on that tree. Then while they are away I will crawl into that clump of ferns, and a little later I will have a Beaver dinner. My! how good it will taste!"

RAGOUT OF GOOSE A LA LYONNAISE.

For a good goose stew try "ragout a la Lyonnaise." Brown in butter two pounds of goose meat and cut into small pieces. Moisten with two spoonfuls of tomato puree and season with salt and pepper and other condiments. Add little onions browned in butter and about one pound of chestnuts, well cleaned.

Let cook about three-quarters of an hour in a casserole. Add mushrooms to taste and grilled chipolata sausage. Let cook another quarter of an hour. Remove the fat and serve.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Lemon Juice and Rice.

A little lemon juice squeezed into the boiling rice will keep it white and will also prevent the grains from sticking together.

Home Cleaning.

Dissolve a little borax in the water in which your crepe de chine dress is to be washed. It acts as a rapid cleanser and no rubbing is required.

They Will Shine Forth.

If the onion in the soup seems to shine above all other flavors, add a turnip, either chopped or whole, and boil a while longer. If put in whole, the turnip may be removed before serving, and no one will be the wiser.

Peep Inside.

Frequently we see an embroidery pattern that is just the design we want, but because it is not made for just the type of work we are doing, we do not buy it. Ask to see it opened, as many patterns could be used very nicely for totally different sorts of hand work and time would be saved in searching for the exact pattern.
